9th LANCERS' HORSE JUMPING COMPETITIONS.

The 9th (Queen's Royal) Lancers held most successful jumping competitions at their camp at Castlerea, Co. Roscommon. There was a large entry in the open classes. Pongo, who last season won several prizes in Dublin and elsewhere for Col. Tilney, was in good form as ever, winning both open events. An open consolation sweepstake produced a great tussle between Miss Flannagan's and Miss Grattan-Bellew's mounts, the former winning by one point after three ties. The lance-corporals and privates made a very good show, considering how many of them were recruits. Melton, who won the 9th Lancers' officers' event, showed great form, while 19, the winner of the N.C.O.'s class, did not seem to feel the effects of her five years of war. The course consisted of a bush fence, gate, double, wall, and water jump. The judges were:—Major Kemple, 9th Lancers; Captain Hewett, 1st Dragoons; Mr. D. Thwaites and Mr. Briscoe. Details:—

Competition open to lance-corporals and privates of the 9th Lancers—1st, Pte. Wray's R.S.M.; 2nd, Pte. Olliver's Frank.

Competition open to all officers quartered in Ireland—1st, Capt. O'Kelly's (R.A.M.C.) Pongo; 2nd, Major D'Arcy's (R.H.A.) Golden Treasure.

Competition open to all Ireland—1st, Capt. O'Kelly's Pongo; Mrs. Mills-Macdonell's Hell and Mrs. D'Arcy's Jerry tied for second.

Competition open to officers of the 9th Lancers—1st, Colonel Cavendish's Melton; 2nd, Captain Leitis' Polly.

Competition open to N.C.O.'s of the 9th Lancers—1st, Sergeant Timms' 19; 2nd, S.Q.M.S. Wates' Rob Roy.

Open Consolation Sweepstake—1st, Miss Flannagan's Mr. Sponge; 2nd, Miss Grattan-Bellew's Not so Dusty.

POLO.

ENGLAND DEFEATS BELGIUM.

An Ostend telegram, dated Monday, says:—The polo match between England and Belgium, in connection with the Olympic Games, took place to-day. The English team beat the Belgian by 8 goals to 3.

ALL IRELAND CLUB.—To-day, 3.15—Practice at Cabra.

CRICKET.

NORTHANTS v. DERBYSHIRE.

Northamptonshire yesterday disposed of Derbyshire's outstanding seven wickets in an hour and a half for 83, and secured the victory by 50 runs. Incidentally, the game provided both Wells and Murdin, the Northants bowlers, with the opportunity of bringing their total of wickets for the season up to fifty. For the greater part of their innings the Derbyshire batting was not only poor, but uninteresting, the bowling being treated with undue respect. Score:—

	1st Inns.	2nd Inns.
Northants	142	148
Derbyshire	86	124

NOTTS. v. YORKSHIRE.

The wicket at Trent Bridge was yesterday in even worse condition than on the previous day, and at 12.30 the umpires and captains decided to abandon the match. Notts. required 101 runs more to avert a follow on with eight wickets standing.

ESSEX v. MIDDLESEX.
AN EXCITING FINISH.

In an exciting finish at Leyton yesterday, Essex beat Middlesex by four runs ten minutes before time. More rain having fallen during the night, the pitch played rather queerly, and the batsmen had to fight hard for their runs. Essex, who had wiped off their arrears of 79 for the loss of one wicket, succeeded, after rather laborious batting, in adding 117 runs, raising their total to 196. They took two and a half hours to make the runs. Two wickets went quickly, but Perrin (50) played an extremely fine game. He received most assistance from M'Iver (25), who batted with freedom, and helped to put on 48 for the fourth wicket in fifty minutes. As the conditions were, this was a meritorious partnership. Morris (17) also hit well, 32 runs being scored for the fifty wicket. Perrin was last out, having been in two and a quarter hours. Hearne bowled uncommonly well, taking eight wickets for 49 runs. Middlesex were set 118 to win, and as it happened, a great fight for the runs was witnessed. Douglas evidently found the wicket to his liking, and, bowling remarkably well, he secured the first six wickets, Middlesex having then only scored 33 runs off him. Warner, when a single, was badly missed. After that he batted skilfully for his 46. The seventh wicket went at 50, and the eighth 67. Murrell stayed with Warner while 35 were added. Sixteen were wanted when the last man went in, but at 113 Warner was bowled at ten minutes to seven, Essex being left with a narrow win. Warner was in two and a half hours. Douglas bowled superbly, taking seven wickets for 47. Score:—

	1st Inns.	2nd Inns.
Essex	133	196
Middlesex	212	113

SUSSEX v. SOMERSET.

At Brighton yesterday Sussex defeated Somerset by 100 runs. Sussex, who had left off with seven wickets down in their second innings for 165, added 50 for the remaining three wickets, and then dismissed the visitors for 165, which included a finely played 78 by Lyon, and 42 from Considine. Score:—

	1st Inns.	2nd Inns.
Sussex	199	213
Somerset	147	165

A Reuters' telegram, dated Chicago, Tuesday, says:—Jack Dempsey, heavy-weight champion, has been matched to meet Billy Miske in a ten-rounds contest at Benton Harbour, Michigan, on Labour Day.

Mr. Robert Smillie, President of the Miners' Federation, and Mr. Frank Hodges left London yesterday for Geneva in connection with the meetings of the Miners' International. No further action in connection with the miners' claim will, therefore, be taken until their return, and when the delegates assemble in London on August 12th.

9th LANCERS' HORSE JUMPING COMPETITIONS.

The 9th (Queen's Royal) Lancers held most successful jumping competitions at their camp at Castlerea, Co. Roscommon. There was a large entry in the open classes. Pongo, who last season won several prizes in Dublin and elsewhere for Col. Tilney, was in as good form as ever, winning both open events. An open consolation sweepstake produced a great tussle between Miss Flannagan's and Miss Grattan-Bellew's mounts, the former winning by one point after three ties. The lance-corporals and privates made a very good show, considering how many of them were recruits. Melton, who won the 9th Lancers' officers' event, showed great form, while 19, the winner of the N.C.O.'s class, did not seem to feel the effects of her five years of war. The course consisted of a bush fence, gate, double, wall, and water jump. The judges were:—Major Kemple, 9th Lancers; Captain Hewett, 1st Dragoons; Mr. D. Thwaites, and Mr. Briscoe. Details:—

Competition open to lance-corporals and privates of the 9th Lancers—1st, Pte. Wray's R.S.M.; 2nd, Pte. Olliver's Frank.

Competition open to all officers quartered in Ireland—1st, Capt. O'Kelly's (R.A.M.C.) Pongo; 2nd, Major D'Arcy's (R.H.A.) Golden Treasure.

Competition open to all Ireland—1st, Capt. O'Kelly's Pongo; Mrs. Mills-Macdonell's Hell and Mrs. D'Arcy's Jerry tied for second.

Competition open to officers of the 9th Lancers—1st, Colonel Cavendish's Melton; 2nd, Captain Lettis' Polly.

Competition open to N.C.O.'s of the 9th Lancers—1st, Sergeant Timms' 19; 2nd, S.Q.M.S. Wates' Rob Roy.

Open Consolation Sweepstake—1st, Miss Flannagan's Mr. Sponge; 2nd, Miss Grattan-Bellew's Not so Dusty.

CHANTICLEER'S NOTES.

(SPECIAL TELEGRAM.)
CHICHESTER, Tuesday Night.

ANGLING.

CONNEMARA DISTRICT.

There was a succession of gales of wind from W. to N. and heavy rain throughout last week. Trout are plentiful in all the waters in the district, and are still running, but the larger rivers and lakes are rather high at present for giving best results. Notwithstanding, some good bags have been obtained. Mrs. Greer, from Recess Hotel, and Lord Ednam, fishing Screebe Lake on Tuesday, killed two salmon and 100 sea trout. Mrs. Greer having two salmon and 56 trout to her own rod. Sir Herbert Goff had good sport on Gowla. His best day was 25 sea trout, some weighing over 2lb. The following other catches were recorded:—Recess Hotel Waters—Major Purdon and Rev. J. Purdon, 50 sea trout; best day 16 trout, heaviest 3lb. Mr. R. G. Williams, 25 sea trout, averaging 1lb. Upper Ballynahinch—Mr. J. Willcox and party, eight salmon and 96 sea trout. Derryclare and Glendalough—Captain Forester and party, one salmon and 31 sea trout. Should the weather moderate good sport could be relied on.

YACHTING.

WATER WAGS.

The last official race will be sailed this evening round the usual course for club prizes. Start 6.30. Officer of the day—Mr. H. R. Newland. Handicap:—Coquette (scr.) allows Phyllis 2 mins.; Pansy, Mollie, Mary Kate, Eros, Pauline, 4 mins.; Tomboy, Vela, Blue Bird 5 mins.; Barbara, 6 mins.; Wendy, 7 mins.

Polling in South Norfolk Division opened yesterday morning. The candidates are—Mr. Batty, Coalition Liberal; Mr. Roberts, Independent Liberal, and Mr. Edwards, Labour.

GOODWOOD MEETING—YESTERDAY.

THE STEWARDS' CUP.
VICTORY OF IRISH-BRED WESTERN WAVE.

Although cold for the time of year, the weather conditions at Goodwood yesterday left nothing to be desired. The company was fully up to the average for the Stewards' Cup day, but runners were not too plentiful, and the sport in consequence suffered.

For instance, Gesture alone opposed Needle Eye for the Ham Stakes. Goods odds were laid on the last-named, but after leading for five furlongs, Gesture readily outstayed her. Strolling Saint and Marcopolis started in equal demand for the Craven Stakes, but whilst the latter never looked like pulling through, Smyth's mount was always in front, except when headed for a little while in the straight by Zuider Zee.

A feature of the early wagering on the principal event had been the strong support of Glanmerin and the decline of Western Wave. Sweetland had the best of the draw on the rails, whilst Western Wave and Plymouth Rock were both placed unfavourably. The start was a fairly good one, with last year's winner, King Sol, early showing in front. Then Tetrameter took up the running, closely pursued by the favourite, but Glanmerin was done with at the distance, and Western Wave and Plymouth Rock drew out, the former gaining the judge's verdict by a head. An objection for bumping followed, but this was overruled.

Velvet Glove was supported like a good thing for the West Dean Selling Plate, but did not appear to get well away, and after Glenrose had made most of the running, the unfancied Va Va shot out clear to score somewhat easily, afterwards becoming the property of Mr. R. Wright at 550 gns. Jappool has frequently ran prominently this season without quite winning, but there was no question as to his being greatly fancied for the Charlton Welter Handicap. As a matter of fact, he had little to do, and won very easily. Details:—

Coming over the brow, King Sol showed in front of Tetrameter, Glanmerin, Granard, Golly Eyes, Plymouth Rock, Western Wave, Rocklow, and Little Boy. A quarter of a mile from home Tetrameter headed King Sol, who was followed by Glanmerin, Western Wave, and Plymouth Rock. At the distance Plymouth Rock drew out in company with Western Wave, pursued by Little Boy and Glanmerin. Plymouth Rock and Western Wave ran home locked together, the latter gaining the verdict by a head. A length and a half divided second and third. Glanmerin was fourth, Tetrameter fifth, Gleneskaki sixth, Little Cell seventh, Pelops eighth, Golly Eyes ninth, La Dauphine tenth, Rocklow eleventh, Orange Prince next, and Sunny Land last. LAW REPORTS.

HEAVY PERSONAL INJURIES DAMAGES.—In the King's Bench Division, Dublin, yesterday, before Mr. Justice Dodd, in the case of P. J. Murphy against J. Smith, of Dundalk, Mr. Lardner (instructed by Mr. J. H. Murphy) applied for an order for the payment out of Court of £1,250, being balance of a sum of £4,200, damages awarded by a jury for personal injuries sustained by the plaintiff, who is a farmer in the Co. Louth, by having been run over by the defendant's motor car at Blackrock, in the same county. The defendant, who resides at Dundalk, brought into Court with his defence £750. After the verdict of the jury was given the defendant paid into Court a further sum of £1,250, and on Monday last, said counsel, the defendant paid direct to the plaintiff the sum of £2,200, in satisfaction of the entire damages. The judge made the required order.

ACTION AGAINST THE LATE HIGH SHERIFF OF MONAGHAN.—Mr. Tobias (instructed by Messrs. Moorhead and Wood) applied to Mr. Justice Dodd in the matter of the action of Mrs. Margaret Eakin, of Carrickmacross, against Sir John P. Mahaffy to recover damages for wrongful seizure, for an order on behalf of the executors of the defendant that the plaintiff should proceed with the action within seven days, or, in the alternative, that the action should be dismissed for want of prosecution. The writ was issued on the 20th December, 1918, claiming damages against Sir John P. Mahaffy, late Provost of Trinity College, Dublin, in his capacity as High Sheriff of the County Monaghan. An appearance was entered for the defence in January, 1919, and the Provost died on the 30th April in the same year. Probate of his will had been taken out by his executors (the present applicants) on the 4th June, 1919. Nothing had been done by the plaintiff in the action, and they now asked for an order that, unless the plaintiff moves to continue the action in the names of the representatives of the deceased, the action be dismissed with costs. Mr. Lardner (instructed by Messrs. Phelan and Co.), for the plaintiff, asked that the application be dismissed, as the action was a personal one, and abated on the death of the defendant. The judge refused the motion with costs, remarking that the cause of action did not survive.

DUBLIN DRUGGISTS COMPANY'S CAPITAL REDUCED.—In the Chancery Division, before the Master of the Rolls, in the matter of Hamilton Long and Co., Ltd. (Reduced), and the matter of the Companies Acts, 1908 and 1917, Mr. Herbert Wilson, K.C., with whom was Mr. Smyllie (instructed by Messrs. Hayes and Sons) moved two petitions on behalf of the company. He said that the first petition was one for confirmation by the Court of a proposed reduction of the capital of the company. The petition stated that the company was incorporated on the 8th July, 1878, for the object of acquiring and carrying on of the business then carried on by Hamilton Long and Co., apothecaries. The capital of the company was £30,000, divided into 6,000 shares of £5 each, of which 5,300 had been issued as fully paid-up. Shortly after its incorporation the company took over the business of Hamilton Long and Co., which was carried on at Lower Sackville street, at 107 Grafton street, Dublin; and at Rathmines road, and Upper George's street, Kingstown. During the rebellion of 1916 the company's premises in Sackville street were destroyed, as well as the adjoining premises, which were acquired by the company since incorporation, but not occupied by them. On the 30th December, 1918, the company sold their interest in the sites 3 and 4 Lower Sackville street and the ex-gratia grant in respect of rebuilding for £13,710. Since then the company had acquired the site, No. 5 Lower Sackville street, without capital outlay, and were erecting thereon a building in which to carry on business. The £13,710 paid to the company had been invested by the company. The company had, in addition, paid-up capital invested amounting to £5,528 17/4. The capital of £30,000 was now in excess of the wants of the company by reason of the matters mentioned, and the petition was that it should be reduced to £18,000, that was, that the £5 shares be reduced to £3, and that the reduction be effected by the return to the holders of 5,300 shares which had been issued paid-up capital to the extent of £2 per share. The Master of the Rolls granted the petition, and on the application of counsel directed that notice of the registration of the petition should be published in the Dublin Gazette, the Irish Times, and the Chemist and Druggist. Mr. Wilson said that the second petition merely dealt with the alteration of the memorandum of association, and the prayer of this petition also was acceded to.

DUBLIN CORPORATION AND COMPENSATION FOR MALICIOUS INJURIES.—In the King's Bench Division, before the Lord Chief Justice, Mr. Justice Gibson, and Mr. Justice Pim, an application was made on behalf of Police Constable Thomas Nolan, of Kevin street police barracks, Dublin, to make absolute a conditional order for a writ of mandamus, dated 23rd June, 1920, which was directed to the Lord Mayor, aldermen and burgesses of the City of Dublin, and to Mr. Eyre, City Treasurer, commanding them to pay, out of such monies as are under their control as such corporation and treasurer, forthwith to Thomas Nolan £273 1/10, being one-half of an amount awarded as compensation, costs, and expenses on the hearing of an appeal from a decree of the Recorder of Dublin under the Malicious Injuries Act, whether the amount has or has not been raised or levied off the rates. Mr. Wylie, K.C.; Mr. Babington, K.C., and Mr. Joseph O'Connor (instructed by Messrs. Gerald Byrne and Co.) were for the applicant; Mr. P. Lynch, K.C.; Mr. T. Sullivan, K.C., and Mr. P. O'C. White (instructed by Mr. Ignatius Rice, City Law Agent) were for the Dublin Corporation. Counsel moved, on the affidavit of Mr. E. H. Burne, of the firm of Gerald Byrne and Co., which set out that Thomas Nolan was maimed or maliciously injured in his person at Stephen's Green while in the execution of his duty as a police constable, by being shot at and hit by a revolver bullet by some evil-disposed person. The bullet entered Nolan's ankle, and the Recorder awarded him £220 compensation for the injuries, to be levied off the City and County of Dublin in equal shares. An appeal was taken against this decision, on the hearing of which the Lord Chief Justice on November 14th ordered that the decree of the Recorder be increased to the sum of £500. Application was made to the City Treasurer for payment of the amount on November 8th, 1919. No reply having been received to the registered letter on November 17th a further letter was sent to the City Treasurer, and on November 18th a reply was received from the City Law Agent stating that the Corporation, having no funds available to meet the claim could not pay the same, and pointing out that at the time when the Corporation estimates were prepared the injuries to Nolan had not happened, and the Act under which he became entitled to compensation had not been passed. Mr. Babington, presenting applicant's case, submitted that he was entitled to be paid under certain sections of the Local Government Board Acts whether the funds for the specific purpose had been levied or not by the Corporation. The debt, counsel said, was due by the Corporation, and the Court was entitled to say that the Corporation must pay whether the amount was levied or not. In the course of the arguments counsel said that the Corporation were wrecking their own finances by refusing to strike a rate for this purpose. He did not know what means the Corporation had of paying this money. If an order was made against them it might be that they would be able to overdraw on their account at the bank. The Lord Chief Justice—That depends on the state of their finances. Mr. Justice Gibson—Would it not be better to allow the matter to be argued before a full Court? At present it is a kind of breathless application. Mr. Babington—There are a lot of other cases depending on the result of this case. Mr. Justice Gibson—That is the very reason why the Court should not give judgment in a hurry. The Lord Chief Justice said that they were prepared to hear any case, but they were not prepared to give judgment at the present sittings. Mr. Justice Gibson said that if the Corporation had not money applicable to the purpose they should be compelled to strike a rate. Mr. Lynch, on behalf of the Corporation, submitted that the application should not be acceded to. The effect of the argument on the other side was that, no matter what the amount of the decree, or how many decrees, the moment they were made and signed by the judge they were payable on presentation to the Corporation. This was a motion to compel the Corporation to pay money which they had not got, and upon which thousands of pounds depended. They could not take money which had been ear-marked for a specific purpose without dislocating the whole machinery of the city. The Lord Chief Justice, referring to the accounts of the Corporation, said that they seemed to be on the basis that they might be compelled in one year to spend more than the estimates provided for. Mr. Lynch submitted that the funds specifically dedicated to a particular purpose could not, by means of a judgment, be made applicable to a different purpose. These Corporation funds were made trust funds by Act of Parliament. Every shilling raised by the rates was raised for a specific purpose, and the raising of other rates was not involved in the application. This being an application to the discretion of the Court, he urged that it should not be granted if there was nothing on which the order could operate. In the course of the arguments the Lord Chief Justice said that he saw that the Corporation had a revenue suspense account. Undoubtedly the Corporation were spending more than they raised, and the way in which they got out of the difficulty in 1918-19 was ingenious but satisfactory. The County Council had paid their moiety of the decree in January, and consequently they could not have raised the money by a specially levied rate to meet the amount. Mr. O'Connor, replying for the applicant, said that the Act of Parliament authorised him to get the money out of the funds in the hands of the Corporation, or out of the first monies coming into the hands of the Treasurer. The Court reserved judgment.

"ANOTHER JURISDICTION."—Mr. Justice Powell heard an application made by Mr. Hector Hughes (instructed by Messrs. Harris and Green), on behalf of the plaintiff, Margaret Byrne, against Michael Byrne, in the matter of the estate of Thomas Byrne, of Ballybrack, Hacketstown, Co. Wicklow, for an order that a certain farm formed portion of the assets of the deceased, Thomas Byrne, and that the defendant should furnish an account of the rents and profits. The defendant's solicitor had, said counsel, written a letter stating that the defendant intended to look to another jurisdiction for a remedy. Mr. Justice Powell made an order declaring that the farm in question formed part of the assets of the deceased, and that the defendant should give the account asked for.

COMMITTED FOR CONTEMPT.—In the Chancery Division, before Mr. Justice Ross, Mr. Vaughan Wilson (instructed by Mr. Ivan Howe) applied that an attachment be issued against John Fitzgerald, of Cooleen, Tullogher, Co. Kilkenny, for his contempt of court by reason of his failure to obey an order made on the 14th June last directing an injunction against him for entering upon certain lands which are under the management of the Court, and of which Mr. H. G. Newport, of Innistioge, is receiver. In an affidavit, Mr. E. J. Roberts stated that on the 22nd inst. he was on the lands in question, where he met John Fitzgerald, who stated to him that he intended to remain in occupation of the lands. There were cattle on the land, and tillage was being carried on. Mr. Justice Ross said that this was, in his opinion, a gross contempt of court, and he would issue an immediate order to commit the defendant to jail for six months, or until further order.

SCIENCE STUDENT INJURED.—Mr. Justice Dodd refused an application to remit to the Recorder of Dublin the action brought by William Beatty, a minor, of Home Villas, Donnybrook, against the Pembroke Urban District Council, to recover damages for personal injuries. Mr. Dockrell (instructed by Mr. M. Good) appeared for the Council in asking the order. The plaintiff was a science student at the Ringsend Technical School. On January 13 he was engaged in an experiment of making oxygen from potassium chloride, when the tube in which the substance was being heated burst, and some of the scattered fragments lodged in his right eye. That eye had to be removed, and the sight of the other, it was said, was affected. The plaintiff's case was that the defendants were guilty of negligence in allowing a dangerous experiment to be made except under expert supervision. Mr. G. Shannon (instructed by Messrs. Joynt and Crawford), for the plaintiff, opposed the motion, and the Judge, remarking that a difficult question of law was involved, refused the application.

DUNGANNON R.D.C. ELECTIONS.—In the King's Bench Division, before the Lord Chief Justice, Mr. Justice Gibson, and Mr. Justice Pim, in the matter of the King (Henry O'Neill) v. William Watson, W. S. Bennett, and Francis Young, Mr. Maguire (instructed by Mr. John Skeffington) applied for an order against the defendants, requiring them to show by what right they purported to sit and act as members of the Rural District Council of Dungannon. Counsel said that the one point in the case was whether the outgoing chairman was entitled not merely to a casting vote, but to an original vote. A conditional order had already been made in a case against Mr. Bennett, the chairman. The present application was in respect of three co-options. The prosecutor alleged that the outgoing chairman exercised not merely his casting vote, but an original vote, to co-opt these three gentlemen, one of whom was himself. The Court granted the conditional order.

The Irish Times.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 28, 1920.

After yesterday's conference at Boulogne Mr. Lloyd George stated that a complete agreement had been reached on all points. It had been decided, subject to Italy's approval, to send a reply to Moscow stating the terms on which the Allies would attend a general conference.

The Greeks have entered Adrianople, and the Turkish troops are reported to be in full flight, abandoning their arms and ammunition.

The House of Lords yesterday gave a second reading to the Bank Notes (Ireland) Bill, and to the Census (Ireland) Bill, which provides for the taking of a census on Sunday, April 24th, 1921.

In the House of Commons yesterday the report stage of the Finance Bill was concluded.

In the House of Commons yesterday Mr. Bonar Law read the correspondence that has passed between His Majesty's Government and the Soviet Government with reference to the liberation of British prisoners in Russia and Baku.

A police sergeant was fired at and wounded on Monday evening in County Donegal, and in the County Sligo a police constable was shot in the head.

An old age pensioner named Anne Kilgallen was beaten to death in her cabin at Skreen, County Mayo, on Sunday night. A man has been arrested.

Armed men took possession of the boardroom in Midleton Workhouse yesterday, presented revolvers at the Auditor of the Local Government Board, and carried off some of his papers.

Claims amounting to £30,000 will be made in connection with the burnings in Bantry on Monday morning.

Two mail trains were stopped at Sallins on Sunday morning by armed men, who opened the mail bags and took away some of the letters.

A courtmartial in Cork yesterday reserved judgment in a case in which two brothers named Dineen were charged with having taken part in an armed attack on a police patrol.

On Saturday night a number of men seized two young women at Granard, County Longford, and cut off their hair because they had spoken to soldiers.

While a sports meeting was in progress in Cork yesterday soldiers arrived, stopped the sports, and cleared the ground.

At an inquest in Cork yesterday the Crown Solicitor refused to produce military witnesses unless he had an assurance from responsible persons that the soldiers would not be made the objects of assassination.

The final race for the America Cup yesterday was won by the Resolute after an exciting contest.

In London the Stock Markets were far from robust, and prices generally were lower. The pressure for loans was severe, and the rate ran up to 5½ per cent. at one time. Discount rates were again hard. Silver again advanced. Business in Dublin was very small and without feature.

A Russian Peace.

Mr. Lloyd George paid a flying visit yesterday to Boulogne, where he had a short conference with M. Millerand. The object of the visit was the discussion of M. Tchitcherin's latest Note to the British Government in which Soviet Russia signifies its sincere desire to make immediate peace with all the world. It will be remembered that on July 1st Earl Curzon sent an invitation to the Bolsheviks from Spa for a meeting in London, "under the auspices of the Peace Conference." The Bolsheviks declined that invitation, but M. Tchitcherin now has "climbed down," and the next move rests with the Allies. On his return from Boulogne yesterday Mr. Lloyd George told Reuter's representative that he and M. Millerand had reached "complete agreement on all points." The Allies will consent to attend a general conference, to be held in London, subject to certain very important conditions. Mr. Lloyd George did not make their precise nature clear, but declared that "peace must first be established in Europe." This raises an issue which is outside the competence of the Soviet Government. What Mr. Lloyd George probably means is that the Bolsheviks must conclude a reasonable armistice with the Poles. Should they insist, he added, that they can only make peace with Poland separately, the conference will fall to the ground; but, should they agree to the Allies' terms, "there is no reason why the conference should not meet within a month." Although the Premier's remarks are very vague, his tone of optimism seems to indicate that the proposed conference really is likely to take place in the near future. In that event the decision taken yesterday at Boulogne has the greatest political importance, as it amounts at last to an official recognition of the Soviet Government by the Allied Powers.

There is no doubt at all that, if the Bolsheviks come to London, they will come as the political equals of the Allies. Tchitcherin's Note, in fact, proposes a new world Peace Conference, similar to that which was held in Paris last year, but more representative of the actual political state of the world. Its terms of reference will include everything relevant to the restoration of peace to the earth, and particularly all questions in which Russia is interested. Therefore, the conference will be a huge undertaking. It will be attended by Bolsheviks, Poles, British, French, and Italians in the first instance, but there are few nations in Europe and Asia whose affairs are uninfluenced by the course of events in Russia, and, if the conference is to succeed, every one of them must be represented. A settlement with Poland involves the interests of Finland, Lithuania, Latvia, Livonia, Germany, Czecho-Slovakia, Austria, Hungary, and the Jugo-Slavs. Also Rumania is in a latent state of war with Russia and has a common frontier with it. The Black Sea and the Caspian must be considered, and the vexed question of the Bosphorus and the Dardanelles will appear once again on the tapis. The formulation of a settlement will demand the presence of representatives from Armenia, Azerbaijan, Daghestan, and Georgia. Turks, Greeks, and Bulgars will want to be heard on the question of the Straits, and the Arabs, as well as the Persians, must be consulted on anything which bears on the Middle East. If one adds to all these the cluster of "Republics" in Eastern Russia, with China, Japan, and, finally, America, one will gain some idea of the number of delegates whose presence at the proposed conference is a sine qua non of success.

In spite of the Premier's optimism, however, there are still many lions in the path of peace with Russia. M. Millerand has pledged himself to the French Chamber to have no truck with the Bolsheviks unless they consent to recognise the debts of the Tsarist Government and to give their consent to General Wrangel's presence at the conference as a delegate. Then there is Great Britain. A primary condition of peace with Bolshevism must be the absolute cessation of all propagandist activity in the British Empire and the East. Finally comes Poland. An independent Polish State is at once a bridge and a bulwark between Europe and Asia, and its integrity is the keystone of the arch of Allied foreign policy. Little more than a touch is needed to hurl Poland into Bolshevism, and the Russian Soviet will strain every nerve to encompass her fall. The Allies should be perfectly frank with M. Tchitcherin. They should tell him bluntly that Poland's independence is absolutely vital to the security of Europe, and that the Bolsheviks must abandon all hope of a Soviet in Warsaw if they sincerely desire to make permanent peace with the world. It has been announced by "wireless" from Moscow that the armistice negotiations with the Poles will begin on Friday at Baranovitcz. The course and result of these negotiations will give a general indication of the Bolsheviks' attitude, and the Allies should not commit themselves to acceptance of M. Tchitcherin's offer until the terms of the armistice are made known. The Allied peoples are anxious to resume normal relations with the great Russian race, in the firm belief that the Russia of to-morrow will be the Russia of yesterday, purged of her faults and her follies. They will tolerate no dictation from the Bolsheviks, however, and, above all, will fight to the last gasp against a fourth partition of Poland.

The Cost of Clothes.

A suit of clothes which cost five or six guineas before the war costs fourteen or fifteen guineas to-day. This fact is of painful importance to the middle-class citizen, for his income, as a rule, has not increased proportionately, and he must continue to present a respectable appearance to the world. He is more than curious to know why clothes have become so dear, but nobody will give him a satisfactory answer. His tailor is sympathetic, but uncommunicative, and the mysteries of cloth-manufacture are a sealed book to him. Now, however, a small corner of a wide field has been investigated by a sub-committee of the Central "Profiteering" Committee. Its report on the Yorkshire tweed cloth industry, which was published yesterday, is thorough and convincing—so far as it goes. The report is based on accountants' surveys into the books of eight firms in respect, roughly, of the accounting period which ended on June 30th, 1919. Its first conclusion strikes the gloomy note—gloomy from the purchaser's point of view—which pervades the whole document. "The cost of manufacture of Yorkshire tweed cloths of average quality was a year ago rather more than three times the pre-war cost, and has since advanced to over four times, and is continuing to increase." We start, indeed, with what seems to be, at first sight, a definite conviction of "profiteering." The net profits before the war were 10.1 per cent. on sales, while for the post-war accounting period the first profits were 19.7 per cent. It appears, however, that after allowances which the report accepts as legitimate, the latter figure is reduced to 4.5 per cent.—less than one-half of the pre-war profits. The allowances include increased cost of renewals of plant and machinery, abnormal risk on raw material, and special taxation. For instance, a carding machine which, before the war, cost £450, now costs £2,000, and the trade has been hit severely by the excess profits duty. Wages and general expenses have increased to three times the war level, and the prices of raw material have been multiplied by four. Men's suits manufactured from this Yorkshire tweed would be sold ready-made or finished to measure at from four guineas to six guineas. The cost of the cloth would be 28s., and the manufacturer's "retainable profit," after allowances for taxation and additional cost of renewals, would amount, approximately, to 1s. per suit. Obviously, there is no "profiteering" here, and this particular trade must be acquitted of any responsibility for the recent increase in the cost of tweed suits. Let us assume charitably that similar investigation would show similar results in the cases of manufacturers of all the varieties of cloth that are used for men's clothing. The clothmakers are cleared, but we are left hunting the Snark of high prices. As this report says, "an important point to the public is the amount which the cost of cloth represents in the finished garments." If it is 28s. in the case of a six-guinea suit, it ought not to be more than 80s. in the case of a fifteen-guinea suit. What processes of trade and distribution explain the difference between £4 and £15 15s.? The man-in-the-street appreciates the largely increased cost of rents, taxes, rates, and skilled labour, but, for his soul's satisfaction, he would like to see the figures. He will agree with The Times that "the matter should not be allowed to rest where it is."

A Wet July.

The month which is drawing to a close has witnessed an abnormal rainfall, and, unless there is an immediate improvement in the weather, there will be a poor harvest. The prospect is not bright, for, according to the experts, the end of July and early August are wont to be wet. Farmers and holiday-makers will join in the hope that for once the experts will be confounded by events. Against the farmer's loss on his hay we can place the verdant vigour of the pastures and the assistance which the rain has given to the root crops; but for the poor holiday-maker there has been no compensation. His trip to the seaside has been a bitter disappointment. Instead of spending the days on the golf links or basking in glorious sunshine on the shore, he has been forced to pass weary hours in the hotel smoking-room or the dismal interior of a fourth-rate cinematograph theatre. The person who had holidays during the last fortnight will be inclined to agree with Horace Walpole, who declared that "there is no summer" in the United Kingdom. "Every summer," Walpole said in one of his letters, "one lives in a state of mutiny and murmur, and I have found the reason; it is because we will affect to have a summer, and we have no title to any such thing. Our poets learnt their trade of the Romans, and so adopted the terms of their masters. They talk of shady groves, purling streams and cool breezes, and we get sore throats and agues." Better fortune, we hope, is in store for the August holiday-maker; yet it will be a grim joke if the sun begins to shine at the moment when the Government discourages travel by increasing the railway fares.

The Test Matches.

Every devotee of cricket will follow the fortunes of the English XI. which is going to Australia with the keenest interest. The team is a particularly strong one, and there can be little doubt that it will give a good account of itself. Mr. R. H. Spooner will captain the side, and it is conceded that no better selection could have been made. He is popular with the players and he has great experience. He played in first-class cricket when "Ranji" and Fry were at the height of their fame, and fifteen years have elapsed since he was first selected to represent England. Owing to wounds received in the war Mr. Spooner has not played much this season, but it is believed that, with a little practice, he will be able to recover that beautiful style of batsmanship with which he used to terrorise bowlers and delight spectators a few years ago. The two other amateurs on the team are Colonel J. W. H. T. Douglas and Mr. P. G. H. Fender, both of whom are good "all-round" men. The team is particularly strong in bowlers. Barnes, Hearne, and Woolley have all had previous experience of the conditions in Australia, and know the problems which they will have to face. The one weakness of the side seems to be the lack of good out-fielders. The first test match will be played on December 17th, and the last on March 15th.

PROPOSED IMPERIAL EXHIBITION.

THE KING AS PATRON.

A GOVERNMENT GUARANTEE.

Mr. Bridgeman writes, in reply to Sir Watson Rutherford, stating that early last year the Government were approached by two independent bodies, both formed with the object of organising an Imperial Exhibition in London. These two bodies agreed, in July of last year, to amalgamate, and a joint provisional committee was then formed under the chairmanship of Lord Morris. The project initiated by this provisional committee had since been fully developed, and a company, limited by guarantee, had been incorporated for the purpose of organising and administering the proposed Exhibition. The Exhibition, which was under the patronage of the King and the Prince of Wales, received the approval of the Government, who proposed at an early date to lay before Parliament a bill asking for authority to participate in the guarantee fund to the extent of £100,000, provided that guarantees from other sources to an amount of not less than £500,000 were given. The control and management of the Exhibition were vested in an executive composed of influential representatives of the principal interests involved, one member being appointed by the Board of Trade. It was hoped by all concerned that the Exhibition would be self-supporting, and that the guarantee fund would be required only for the purpose of providing the security upon which advances for necessary expenditure might be obtained from the banks until receipts were available from gate money and other resources.

AN IRISH BILL.

In the House of Lords yesterday the Local Government (Ireland) Provisional Orders (No. 3) Bill was read a second time.

THE MIDLAND GREAT WESTERN RAILWAY OF IRELAND.

A deputation from the directors of the Midland Great Western Railway of Ireland, consisting of Sir Walter Nugent, Bart., Deputy Chairman; Lord MacDonnell, Mr. Arthur Jackson, D.L., and Mr. J. Tatlow, accompanied by Mr. Keogh, General Manager, had an interview on the 19th instant with Sir Eric Geddes, Minister of Transport.

They placed before him the special circumstances of the Midland Great Western Railway in connection with its administration after the withdrawal of Government control. A free discussion ensued, which placed the Minister in full possession of the Board's views regarding the financial position of the railway.

The directors believe that Sir Eric Geddes fully appreciated the situation.

LONDON CORRESPONDENCE.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
Tuesday Night.

When Sir Donald Maclean protested this afternoon against the House of Commons being asked to discuss Bills in the small hours, Mr. Bonar Law said that the Government were bound to utilise the hours after eleven o'clock, if there was to be, as he still hoped, an autumn recess.

I do not wonder that he is becoming a little anxious on that subject. The Government have so much overloaded their programme that there is still a large amount of legislation that must be got through before the House rises: there were twenty-two "starred" orders on the paper to-day. Besides, in the House of Commons, more than in most places, it is the unexpected that happens. Two or three times a week attempts are made to move the adjournment in order to discuss some topic which, in the opinion of forty members, is a "definite matter of urgent public importance."

To-day Mr. Ronald McNeill, being dissatisfied with the efforts made by the Government to obtain the release of the British prisoners at Baku—and it is a strange thing that the French seem to have been more successful in the case of their prisoners—asked leave to move the adjournment. The Speaker was at first disinclined to put the question, but ultimately did so, when Mr. McNeill stated that he had definite proposals to make. A curiously mixed lot of members stood up in response—pro-Bolsheviks, Labour men, and extreme Tories among them—but, all told, they only numbered thirty-eight, so the motion lapsed, and Mr. Bonar Law and the majority of the House, which only wants to get away for the holidays, breathed again.

"Fight the Farthing" is the heading which an evening paper puts up to stimulate public opposition to the proposed increase in railway fares. Other papers exaggerate the enormity of the new tax on travel, and print in parallel columns not only the present fares to certain popular resorts and those now proposed, but also the pre-war excursion fares. In the case of Edinburgh, for example, it does look, of course, a tremendous jump from 28s. excursion to 109s. But, in this connection, there is a faint gleam of hope for the traveller. Mr. Neal stated in the House to-day that Sir Eric Geddes is very anxious for the restoration of excursion fares, and is pressing the railways to introduce them as soon as they are in a position to do so. Next summer, perhaps!

Heavy rains fell in London to-day, but there were bright intervals when the sun shone for a few moments, just to show that it might be summer. Everybody goes about with waterproofs and umbrellas, prepared for a downpour at any minute. The weather experts are anxious that people shall believe that this July is just an ordinary one, but it is doubtful whether they will get any Londoner to agree. The general opinion is that it has been the worst July for years, and it is pointed out that the rainfall has nearly doubled the figures of July of last year. In the meanwhile, the poor farmer grows more and more distressed; for, if July had been fine, harvesting would have been fairly general. There are quantities of hay still out, and cornfields will be ruined unless there is a speedy change.

There was a little breeze in the House to-day over a question regarding military disturbances at Fermoy and Lismore, put by Lieutenant-Commander Kenworthy. Mr. Churchill having stated the disciplinary measures that had been taken, Major Jameson sarcastically inquired whether soldiers in Ireland would be specially instructed not to disturb the peace and order prevailing in that country, but to keep to their proper function—that of acting as targets for Sinn Fein bullets. Commander Kenworthy rose to put another question, presumably to remove the effect of this sally, but his voice was drowned with ironical cheers and cries of "Agreed."

The Irish Census Bill, which was given a second reading and provides for the taking of a census on Sunday, 24th April, 1921, seems to throw a somewhat difficult and delicate task upon the unfortunate enumerators, having regard to the political situation in Ireland. It provides, for instance, for a visit to every house for the purpose of ascertaining the sex, age, religion, profession, birthplace, parentage, condition as to marriage, relation to head of family, and occupation of all persons residing therein, and "all such further particulars as they may be directed." The results, when obtained, should be instructive.

Mr. Ben Tillett will ask the Postmaster-General to-morrow if he will state for how many years the City of Dublin Steam Packet Company has carried the mails from Holyhead to Ireland, and whether the services rendered during these years were satisfactory. Mr. Tillett will also put other questions on this subject to the First Lord of the Admiralty.

The official report of the deputation of the members of the Miners' Federation to the President of the Board of Trade, issued to-day, makes it perfectly clear that the Government intend to remain firm on the question of an advance to the miners, unless there is some very great change in conditions. Sir Robert Horne was carefully and scrupulously polite to the members of the deputation, but he would not budge from the attitude he took up at the opening of the proceedings. As a matter of fact, his attitude was that the Government refuse to accept the dictation of the Miners' Federation.

The Evening News says to-day that its representative in the Lobby last night was assured that, if the worst comes to the worst, and the miners declare for a strike, there will be a general election. The Government believe that they would have the overwhelming support of the electors in resisting the new demands if an appeal was made to them.

Irish members are naturally concerned over the proposal of the Railway Rates Advisory Committee that fares in Ireland should be increased to 100 per cent. over pre-war figures, as compared with an increase of only 75 per cent. for Great Britain. The matter will be the subject of consideration at the usual meeting of the Irish Unionist Parliamentary Party to-morrow.

After failure yesterday to induce the Chancellor of the Exchequer to give way on excess profits, an attack was made to-day on the corporation tax. Colonel Wedgwood described it as a new sort of income tax, which was easily transferable to the consumer, and left untouched the farmer who had accumulated wealth during the war. Mr. Chamberlain, in view of the changed conditions, was prepared to suspend the operation of the tax so far as public utility companies were concerned for three years, but beyond this he was not prepared to go. The Labour Party's views were all in favour of a tax on capital; others saw in it a tax on enterprise; while Sir F. Banbury foresaw British companies transferring their headquarters to foreign soil. A motion for the omission of the clause was rejected by 177 to 122.

PRINCE OF WALES IN BRISBANE.

A Reuter's telegram from Brisbane on Tuesday says:—The Prince had a particularly warm welcome on his arrival here to-day. Huge crowds lined the lavishly decorated streets, and cheered him heartily. It was noticeable that, when the Mayor presented an address, the Prince had completely regained his voice, his reply being made in resonant tones.

THE INDIAN VISIT.

Reuter's Agency understands that advices have reached this country from Australia indicating that the severe strain of the protracted tour of the Prince of Wales in New Zealand and Australia has told upon the health of His Royal Highness, and has rendered it necessary to consider whether it would be desirable to postpone for a short period the projected visit to India.

A GERMAN HOLIDAY.

MIXED BATHING IN BERLIN.

TEUTON TRIPPERS.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

BERLIN, July 18.

Distracted by the tropical summer heat with which the city-dweller in Berlin is now afflicted, one gasps for a little relief. One longs for Greenland, or for the occupation of Shackleton, till finally, in a burst of inspiration, one remembers Wahnsee. Only once, in 1913, had I ever been to this resort of the Berliner, and ever since I have retained a vivid picture of the sight. So, partly to renew old memories, partly to escape the pestilential mugginess of the city, I set off this (Sunday) afternoon for this popular resort.

To my annoyance I found that the idea was somewhat lacking in originality. Apparently all the rest of Berlin had succumbed to the same temptation. The tram to the Zoological Garden railway station was packed with people in cotton frocks and white shirts, carrying bundles, known to consist partly of sandwiches—black bread and Blutwurst—and consisting partly of towels and other requisites for bathing. At the railway the crush intensified. Long strings of people stood waiting for tickets, and the platform was full. Every compartment was crowded, and, far from escaping from the deadly heat, one began to bathe in the train, streams of perspiration pouring out of one. But a German crowd is very orderly, considerate, even subdued in its behaviour. In spite of the simplicity of the dress in comparison with pre-war days, betokening the harshness of the struggle to-day to keep both ends meeting, the people do not look as if crushed or despondent. They rather give the impression of being prosperous, but over-thrifty, though, withal, happy.

Arrived at our destination after thirty minutes in the train, we step again into the gorgeous sunshine. There is an immediate rush for the ticket offices to secure tickets for the return journey, so as to save the inevitable crush later. Along a cool, shady avenue of over-arching limes, one passes with the crowd. What a relief from the scorching sun is that dense dark-green canopy, so typical of German country roads! On either side of the roadway one passes the ubiquitous beer-garden, but the crowd drifts along, paying no attention at present. Soon the road branches. To the left is a path bearing the sign-post, "Zum Familienbad." This is the select bathing-place, where the sexes bathe in separate enclosures. A thin trickle of visitors passes along this track, but the great majority take the broad road leading under the flaring sign, "Zum Freibad."

Coming in the opposite direction one passes those who have finished bathing, and are returning to town early. The majority belong to the working-class. They look the very picture of health, burned brown with the day in the sun. Many are singing or whistling popular music-hall airs. After a while the lake comes into view through the trees. Although this noisy variegated crowd of Sunday trippers has given the place an air of vulgarity, one cannot fail to enjoy the beauty of the scene. It reminds one strongly of Sydney Harbour. The sides, densely wooded, are somewhat steep. The land forms a number of snug inlets with the water, which one can easily imagine might be ideal, quiet fishing grounds. A gentle breeze covers the surface of the water with ripples flashing incessantly in the sunlight. A great number of sailing yachts dots the whole surface with spots of white. The turret, showing up against the sky on a hill-top across the water, gives a suggestion of romance to the scene.

Suddenly one comes to the "bath." At a distance it looks like a human anthill. Thousands upon thousands of pink-skinned "bathers" of every age and of both sexes are mixed up together, sitting, lying, lounging, running, or playing games. The like I have never seen. One buys an entrance ticket—30 pfennigs, something less than a penny. One goes to the disrobing tent, a gigantic canvas structure without partitions. One changes and tries to give up one's clothes. Hundreds are waiting for a place, for the supply of metal checks has been exhausted, and only as they are returned can one give up one's belongings. Under this canvas dome, even in negligé, the perspiration rolls out in torrents. One bribes one of the attendants and gets outside. Hundreds, more resourceful, undress outside in the open. One looks for an unoccupied patch on the sand to deposit the towels.

The grounds are a sight to be remembered. No caricature could exaggerate the sketches which one sees. Old grey-haired dames, weighing fifteen stone, in loose-hanging, flaring red outfits, lie on the sand or wade out into the refreshing shallow water. Children of five and six years are quite naked. There are whole working-class families, whose wage-earners can barely scrape together enough to keep the children clothed. There are courting couples of twenty years of age, and old maids making a last desperate effort. Hundreds do not go into the water at all, but simply lie in the sun all day to get brown. The crowd is mostly rather rough-and-tumble, and the slightest pretence for horse-play is seized upon with readiness. A great number of mandolines, concertinas, and mouth-organs enliven the air, and one constantly hears the rollicking strains of such popular Schläger as "Why are the girls so ticklish to-day?" the general crowd joining the chorus.

Although there is an utter lack of conventionality, one does not feel that it is the same thing as impropriety. What does not hold in Schöneberg passes current as a matter of course in Wahnsee. At seven o'clock the bell goes. The bathers must leave the water. The tide of visitors turns in the opposite direction. But the day is not finished. The beer-gardens now absorb a great part of the crowd. Here thousands of garden tables are spread out under the trees. Fat waiters stagger under heavily-laden trays of foaming tankards of ale. The brass and string bands are excellent. There are kiosks for shooting, halls for dancing, amusements for children. Presently the electric lights hung in the trees flash out. The brightly-dressed crowd sits drinking, smoking, chatting in the cool of the evening. Gradually it thins away towards eleven o'clock, Berlinwards. It is essentially a happy crowd. Life in Germany to-day is strenuous, with a very uncertain future. This is the German way of gaining a little respite.

THE LATE DR. STARKIE.

The usual fortnightly meeting of the Board of National Education was held on Tuesday. The following Commissioners were present:—Sir Stanley Harrington, J.P.; Lt.-Col. Lord Frederick FitzGerald, Lord Killanin, LL.D.; Gerald Dease, D.L.; Sir John Ross, Laurence A. Waldron, P.C.; David M. Moriarty, Right Rev. Maurice Day, D.D., Bishop of Clogher; Right Rev. Robert Miller, D.D., Bishop of Cashel and Waterford; Robert Donovan, Denis Holland, Rev. James Bingham, M.A., D.D.; William Parr, with A. N. Bonaparte Wyse, M.A., Secretary in attendance. The chair was taken by Sir Stanley Harrington.

Referring to the lamented death of the Right Hon. W. J. M. Starkie, Resident Commissioner, the Chairman moved the following resolution, which was passed unanimously:—

That we, the Commissioners of National Education, desire to place on record our deep and sincere sorrow at the great loss we have sustained by the death of the Right Honourable W. J. M. Starkie, Litt.D., LL.D., who has been Resident Commissioner of National Education for over twenty-one years. Occupying as he did a foremost place in the educational world, he brought his brilliant and wide scholarship, coupled with a sound judgment, to bear upon the many difficult problems which arose during his long tenure of office, and he was responsible for introducing many important and far-reaching reforms into the system of national education. His transparent honesty of purpose, his boundless energy, and his many and varied gifts commanded our admiration and respect, and he leaves a vacant place amongst us which it will be impossible to fill.

That we adjourn our meeting to-day as a mark of respect and affectionate regard for the memory of our deeply-mourned and lamented friend and colleague.

That a copy of this resolution, with an expression of our deepest sympathy with herself and her family, be forwarded to Mrs. Starkie.

ALBERT MEDAL FOR GALLANT INDIAN.

A thrilling story of the gallantry of a young native waterman, Gharib Shah, is told in the London Gazette last night in connection with the award by the King of the Albert Medal in recognition of his conduct in June of last year. A large religious fair was held in India at Nariana on the River Beas. A ferry boat containing 150 pilgrims crossing the flooded river got out of control, and, entering the rapids, was swamped. Gharib Shah, who is twenty-five years of age, was working a timber raft thirty yards away. He got his raft close to the overturned boat, and immediately set to work to save people in the rushing water. Time after time he plunged into the river, and rescued fifteen drowning persons. Others in the water who struggled to the raft he pulled on to it. Of forty-five saved, Gharib Shah was responsible for the rescue of at least thirty by his bravery and resourcefulness. In 1914, at personal risk, he rescued five persons from the same river.

ANOTHER BRITISH NOTE.

The Times, in a leading article to-day, says:—After his brief conference with M. Millerand, the Prime Minister yesterday sent another Note to the Bolshevists. Pending the communication of the text by Moscow "wireless," our Special Correspondent at Boulogne is able to give some interesting information about its genesis and contents. It is a British Note, devised to appease French scruples, and it is not even signed on behalf of France. This, perhaps, is not illogical, as France has never lent her countenance to the progressive developments of the Prinkipo policy. She has stedfastly adhered to the views of Bolshevism and Bolshevists which Mr. Lloyd George and Lord Curzon loudly proclaimed when there seemed a good prospect of early Bolshevist defeat. Yesterday the French Prime Minister did not meet his British colleague's plan as amended by Tchitcherin with an absolute negative. He was ready to agree to a conference in London with the Soviet emissaries upon certain terms. They were very much the terms which, as we have pointed out, Lord Curzon proposed to the Bolshevists, and which the Bolshevists in their latest answer utterly ignored. M. Millerand is willing that France should attend, on the clear understanding that Poland, and Poland alone, should be the subject of discussion, and that all the Border States should be represented. These are among the points which appear to have escaped Mr. Lloyd George when he declared his gratification with the Bolshevist reply on Monday night. Other points also escaped him. Yesterday's Note, we are told further, asks for explanations of the many ambiguities in Tchitcherin's communication. They were obvious enough, but they did not occur to Mr. Lloyd George and the Foreign Secretary until they had an opportunity of hearing our French Allies. These read the Bolshevist correspondence as we have read it—as a pretension that the future of Poland is no concern of the Entente, and that the border States are to be excluded from the gathering at which the Bolshevists and the principal Allied Powers are to determine their fate. Mr. Lloyd George, doubtless, believes that, if only he can get a conference together, the general recognition of Lenin's Government will not be much longer delayed. The belief is probably well founded. Once the Allies consented to sit at the same table with the Bolshevists on great European issues, they would have already given them ample recognition. There are, however, adds The Times, still obstacles to this happy consummation. The Soviet Government may decline this modification of their programme as insolently as they declined Lord Curzon's original project. France will not consent to abandon Poland upon any pretext. She seems, in fact, disposed to regard the "Russo-British" negotiations as a test of Bolshevist sincerity, and to withhold her assent to attend the proposed London Conference until she learns the result of that test.

ARCHBISHOP MANNIX'S RETORT.

The New York Correspondent of The Times, telegraphing yesterday, says:—"If Lloyd George says I am not going to land in England, then I am not." That was the statement Archbishop Mannix made at Atlantic City last night when informed of Mr. Lloyd George's statement in the House of Commons. He added:—"I intend to sail in the Baltic on July 31st. I understand that the vessel stops at Queenstown on her way to Liverpool. It is my intention to visit Ireland, then to go to England, and from there I intend to go to Rome, but Mr. Lloyd George may interrupt my itinerary." When questioned about the statement of Mr. Hughes, to the effect that he did not represent the views of the people of Australia, Monsignor Mannix said—"On two memorable occasions Mr. Hughes made such statements. On both occasions the people of Australia demonstrated that I was right and Mr. Hughes was wrong. One of these occasions was the plebiscite on conscription. Mr. Hughes was discredited, and I was supported." Monsignor Mannix denied that he ever made a statement that Australia wished to separate from England, but added that, should the Australian people ever feel that their best interests lay in separation, the views of Mr. Hughes would count for little. Monsignor Mannix yesterday cancelled an engagement in Philadelphia, it was said, after he had learned that a demonstration was to be made by the opponents of de Valera. The Archbishop's visit to Cardinal Gibbons at Union Mills, near Baltimore, was said to have been of the most informal character. The two men dined together and chatted for several hours, but, according to published reports, the subject of Ireland was not broached, nor was there any discussion of the Archbishop's activities in America.

THE PROBLEM OF IRELAND.

Lord Henry Bentinck, M.P., writing to The Times to-day, observes:—The Prime Minister has announced that he intends to proceed with his Irish Bill. Meanwhile his incapacity to govern Ireland becomes more manifest every day. The land is filled with violence, and upon his failure lawlessness and crime flourish apace. His incapacity arises from the fact that he persists in ignoring the simplest rules of democratic government. Who can crush the spirit of a nation? Who can draw Leviathan with a hook? Who can successfully deny either the fundamental unity of the Irish people or their right to be ruled by the majority of their own people? The Prime Minister is kicking against the pricks. From the moment that the Prime Minister recognises that the only method by which Ireland can be governed is by the consent of its people will the Irish sky begin to brighten. From the moment that the Government cease their futile attempts to kill Republicanism by force will loyalty to the Empire begin to gain ground. But what hope is there that the Prime Minister will embrace the cause of liberty and justice for Ireland while he is tied to his alliance with Sir Edward Carson? That is the governing factor in this tragic situation. Surely the happiness and welfare of millions of people are more important than the personal position of any one man. In all humility I submit that, in the interests of Ireland and of the Empire, it is the duty of the Prime Minister to dissolve that partnership, and to trust to the wisdom and public spirit of the House and the country to support him in a policy of reconciliation and peace.

THE SWORD OF DAMOCLES.

The immediate consequence of the Government's refusal of the demand formulated about three weeks ago by the Miners' Federation will be that the miners will proceed in due form with arrangements for taking a strike ballot, The Times remarks to-day in its editorial comment. The precise policy to be adopted will, no doubt, be settled at a special conference which will be held on August 12, and tempers are not likely to be improved if the delegates attending it have to pay the higher railway fares now in prospect. Mr. Smillie pleaded eloquently for the consumer, but, as a matter of fact, the consumer has not shown any great resentment at the increased price of coal, and he would have a livelier conviction of Mr. Smillie's sincerity if that gentleman would exert himself to help the poor consumer by increasing the supply. That Mr. Smillie will not do—unless the Government will nationalise the mines and give him control, for behind the present dispute lies the question of nationalisation, and the public will form their own opinion about it. Two things are certain. They do not believe in the disinterestedness of the miners, and they are thoroughly sick of these interminable strike threats. In the story of Damocles related by Cicero, that courtier was cured of his belief in the happiness of Dionysius, the tyrant, by the terror which a sword hung over his head inspired in the midst of the most delightful surroundings, but our present surroundings are not so very delightful, and we are less impressed by the sword. Damocles was a Sicilian. If he has been an Englishman, he might have said—"Confound the sword"—or profaner words to that effect—"if it is going to fall, let it fall!"

THE STOCK EXCHANGE.

Stagnant conditions prevailed on the Stock Exchange yesterday, says The Times, and some members declared it to be the quietest day experienced so far this year. If there was any definite trend in the course of prices, it was in the direction of a slight hardening in the late dealings, but on the day there was quite a long list of small net losses.

FUTURE OF EAST AFRICA.

An Order in Council has been passed and brought into force from July 23rd, annexing to the Crown the whole of the East Africa Protectorate (except territories on the coast which form part of the Dominions of the Sultan of Zanzibar), under the name of the Kenya Colony. A further Order in Council will be passed to establish the Kenya Protectorate, consisting of the Sultan of Zanzibar's mainland dominions.

BRITISH LABOUR AND IRELAND.

Delegates of the National Federation of General Workers will meet at Oriel College, Oxford, for their annual conference next month, and will receive a welcome from the Provost of Oriel College, as well as the Mayor of Oxford. One of the resolutions to be proposed expresses sympathy with Ireland, and "while we deplore violence and disorder, we also deplore and resent the use of armed forces of the Crown, which can only aggravate the present unsettled condition of Ireland and lead to further bloodshed."

These are among the points which appear to have escaped Mr. Lloyd George when he declared his gratification with the Bolshevist reply on Monday night. Other points also escaped him. Yesterday's Note, we are told further, asks for explanations of the many ambiguities in Tchitcherin's communication. They were obvious enough, but they did not occur to Mr. Lloyd George and the Foreign Secretary until they had an opportunity of hearing our French Allies. These read the Bolshevist correspondence as we have read it—as a pretension that the future of Poland is no concern of the Entente, and that the border States are to be excluded from the gathering at which the Bolshevists and the principal Allied Powers are to determine their fate. Mr. Lloyd George, doubtless, believes that, if only he can get a conference together, the general recognition of Lenin's Government will not be much longer delayed. The belief is probably well founded. Once the Allies consented to sit at the same table with the Bolshevists on great European issues, they would have already given them ample recognition. There are, however, adds The Times, still obstacles to this happy consummation. The Soviet Government may decline this modification of their programme as insolently as they declined Lord Curzon's original project. France will not consent to abandon Poland upon any pretext. She seems, in fact, disposed to regard the "Russo-British" negotiations as a test of Bolshevist sincerity, and to withhold her assent to attend the proposed London Conference until she learns the result of that test.

ARCHBISHOP MANNIX'S RETORT.

The New York Correspondent of The Times, telegraphing yesterday, says:—"If Lloyd George says I am not going to land in England, then I am not." That was the statement Archbishop Mannix made at Atlantic City last night when informed of Mr. Lloyd George's statement in the House of Commons. He added:—"I intend to sail in the Baltic on July 31st. I understand that the vessel stops at Queenstown on her way to Liverpool. It is my intention to visit Ireland, then to go to England, and from there I intend to go to Rome, but Mr. Lloyd George may interrupt my itinerary." When questioned about the statement of Mr. Hughes, to the effect that he did not represent the views of the people of Australia, Monsignor Mannix said—"On two memorable occasions Mr. Hughes made such statements. On both occasions the people of Australia demonstrated that I was right and Mr. Hughes was wrong. One of these occasions was the plebiscite on conscription. Mr. Hughes was discredited, and I was supported." Monsignor Mannix denied that he ever made a statement that Australia wished to separate from England, but added that, should the Australian people ever feel that their best interests lay in separation, the views of Mr. Hughes would count for little. Monsignor Mannix yesterday cancelled an engagement in Philadelphia, it was said, after he had learned that a demonstration was to be made by the opponents of de Valera. The Archbishop's visit to Cardinal Gibbons at Union Mills, near Baltimore, was said to have been of the most informal character. The two men dined together and chatted for several hours, but, according to published reports, the subject of Ireland was not broached, nor was there any discussion of the Archbishop's activities in America.

THE PROBLEM OF IRELAND.

Lord Henry Bentinck, M.P., writing to The Times to-day, observes:—The Prime Minister has announced that he intends to proceed with his Irish Bill. Meanwhile his incapacity to govern Ireland becomes more manifest every day. The land is filled with violence, and upon his failure lawlessness and crime flourish apace. His incapacity arises from the fact that he persists in ignoring the simplest rules of democratic government. Who can crush the spirit of a nation? Who can draw Leviathan with a hook? Who can successfully deny either the fundamental unity of the Irish people or their right to be ruled by the majority of their own people? The Prime Minister is kicking against the pricks. From the moment that the Prime Minister recognises that the only method by which Ireland can be governed is by the consent of its people will the Irish sky begin to brighten. From the moment that the Government cease their futile attempts to kill Republicanism by force will loyalty to the Empire begin to gain ground. But what hope is there that the Prime Minister will embrace the cause of liberty and justice for Ireland while he is tied to his alliance with Sir Edward Carson? That is the governing factor in this tragic situation. Surely the happiness and welfare of millions of people are more important than the personal position of any one man. In all humility I submit that, in the interests of Ireland and of the Empire, it is the duty of the Prime Minister to dissolve that partnership, and to trust to the wisdom and public spirit of the House and the country to support him in a policy of reconciliation and peace.

THE SWORD OF DAMOCLES.

The immediate consequence of the Government's refusal of the demand formulated about three weeks ago by the Miners' Federation will be that the miners will proceed in due form with arrangements for taking a strike ballot, The Times remarks to-day in its editorial comment. The precise policy to be adopted will, no doubt, be settled at a special conference which will be held on August 12, and tempers are not likely to be improved if the delegates attending it have to pay the higher railway fares now in prospect. Mr. Smillie pleaded eloquently for the consumer, but, as a matter of fact, the consumer has not shown any great resentment at the increased price of coal, and he would have a livelier conviction of Mr. Smillie's sincerity if that gentleman would exert himself to help the poor consumer by increasing the supply. That Mr. Smillie will not do—unless the Government will nationalise the mines and give him control, for behind the present dispute lies the question of nationalisation, and the public will form their own opinion about it. Two things are certain. They do not believe in the disinterestedness of the miners, and they are thoroughly sick of these interminable strike threats. In the story of Damocles related by Cicero, that courtier was cured of his belief in the happiness of Dionysius, the tyrant, by the terror which a sword hung over his head inspired in the midst of the most delightful surroundings; but our present surroundings are not so very delightful, and we are less impressed by the sword. Damocles was a Sicilian. If he has been an Englishman, he might have said—"Confound the sword"—or profaner words to that effect—"if it is going to fall, let it fall!"

THE STOCK EXCHANGE.

Stagnant conditions prevailed on the Stock Exchange yesterday, says The Times, and some members declared it to be the quietest day experienced so far this year. If there was any definite trend in the course of prices, it was in the direction of a slight hardening in the late dealings, but on the day there was quite a long list of small net losses.

FUTURE OF EAST AFRICA.

An Order in Council has been passed and brought into force from July 23rd, annexing to the Crown the whole of the East Africa Protectorate (except territories on the coast which form part of the Dominions of the Sultan of Zanzibar), under the name of the Kenya Colony. A further Order in Council will be passed to establish the Kenya Protectorate, consisting of the Sultan of Zanzibar's mainland dominions.

BRITISH LABOUR AND IRELAND.

Delegates of the National Federation of General Workers will meet at Oriel College, Oxford, for their annual conference next month, and will receive a welcome from the Provost of Oriel College, as well as the Mayor of Oxford. One of the resolutions to be proposed expresses sympathy with Ireland, and "while we deplore violence and disorder, we also deplore and resent the use of armed forces of the Crown, which can only aggravate the present unsettled condition of Ireland and lead to further bloodshed."

RUSSIA AND POLAND.

THE PEACE PROPOSAL.

CONFERENCE AT BOULOGNE.

"A GOOD DAY'S WORK."

A Reuter's telegram from Boulogne states that Mr. Lloyd George met M. Millerand yesterday in Boulogne. The two statesmen had a long talk before lunch. At 2.45 they went to a conference at the Hotel Imperial. The telegram adds—There has been no development of the Russian situation since the receipt of the Soviet reply.

The Echo de Paris says that M. Millerand's conditions are:—(1) The People's Commissaries shall be called upon to consult the Russian people; (2) the election of a National Assembly; (3) the Government of General Wrangel and all Governments constituted on former territories of the Tsar shall meet in London.

Reuter's Correspondent telegraphed in the afternoon—The British Mission left this evening for Folkestone by destroyer, which had been waiting for it in harbour.

The conference lasted three hours, and the British Premier informed Reuter's Correspondent that a complete agreement had been reached on all points.

It has been decided, subject to the approval of Italy, to send a reply to Moscow saying that if the Allies are to attend a general conference certain things must be made clear. Poland and other border States must take part in the conference, the first and primary object of which is to establish peace in Europe. Then the conference could proceed to discuss questions between Russia and the Allies with a view to establishing normal relations. If the Soviet Government replies that it can only make peace with Poland separately, the conference will fall to the ground. If, on the other hand, the Soviet Government agrees, there is no reason why the conference should not meet within a month. No definite date for the conference has been fixed. Mr. Lloyd George added that M. Millerand and he agreed that a very good piece of work had been done to-day at Boulogne.

An Exchange Paris telegram says—The Chicago Tribune says that the French Government will not consent to the surrender of General Wrangel to the Bolsheviks.

Mr. Lloyd George and party returned to Folkestone in the evening on the torpedo boat destroyer Redoubt, and proceeded to London.

The Temps (Paris) discussing the Boulogne conference, says that the result of the meeting will show whether it was opportune or not. The newspaper considers that in any case relations between the Allies and Soviet Russia present a problem far too grave for an irrevocable decision to be taken in a few hours. The Allied Parliaments, it says, ought to be given an opportunity to express their opinion.

ARMISTICE NEGOTIATIONS AT BARANOVITCZ.

A Reuter's Paris telegram of Monday says—The Moscow wireless announces that the armistice negotiations between representatives of the Soviet Government and Poland will begin on Friday at Baranovitcz.

GENERAL WRANGEL'S OPERATIONS.

A Constantinople telegram, dated July 24, states: A communiqué from General Wrangel's Army, dated July 18, states that he is developing success near Krivaia, Kossa, and in the neighbourhood of Theodorovska, where the enemy lost two hundred killed. In two other regions the Bolshevists have been driven back. They suffered heavy losses.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS AND POLAND.

LETTER FROM VISCOUNT GREY.

Viscount Grey of Falloden, in a letter to Lord Robert Cecil, dated July 26th, says:—

My dear Cecil,—Surely everyone who cares for the League of Nations should protest against the statement recently made in Parliament, that we were under an obligation to support Poland because we are a member of the League. The League of Nations had nothing to do with the Russian Polish war, and it is a crime against the League and its members to charge it with responsibility when the responsibility clearly did not rest with the individual Governments. The Polish-Russian crisis was the result of ignoring the League. The world was not brought to the threshold of another war by the failure of the League.

The League might, and should, have been used months ago to prevent the Polish offensive and to make peace when peace might have been made. It is not because the League exists, but because the League was disregarded that we were on the verge of being involved in war. Furthermore, the statement that there is any League obligation is untrue. It is more than this. It is a deadly injury to the League, because it gives the impression that we might have been involved in this war by being a member of the League. This is not so. Membership of the League of Nations is essentially only membership in a co-operative association of Governments to work for international friendship to bring peace by discussion based upon justice, not force.

The League was not invoked to restrain Poland, one of its own members, from aggression, or, as the Prime Minister calls it, "reckless" and "foolish" action, as it should have been. To invoke the League now to support Poland by arms against the consequences of her action is not merely illogical, it is, in fact, a great misuse of the League, for it perverts it into an instrument for carrying on war after having prevented it from exercising its first and greatest function of making peace. This perversion of the League unless repudiated will impair its future usefulness and imperil its very existence. It is now too late for the League to intervene in this war, and as it was not invoked to restrain Poland from the offensive it cannot be invoked to save her from the consequences of that offensive. Whether on other grounds we should, or we can, help Poland are points which I do not desire to raise or discuss in this letter. My sole purpose is to point out that the present trouble comes from the League having been disregarded by those who joined it, and to protest against the statement that the League in this instance involves us in any obligation to go to war, a statement which, as concerns the League, poisons the very well of truth.

I am told that at the time of the Polish offensive it was urged in Parliament by a spokesman of the Government that the League could not be invoked because the war between Poland and Russia had begun before the League was in existence. I do not admit the force of this argument, but if it was used, it has as much force now as it had then.

MESOPOTAMIA.

THE RUMETHA GARRISON.

COST OF CIVIL ADMINISTRATION

Mr. Churchill, replying to Lieutenant-Colonel Arthur Murray in the House of Commons yesterday, said that the garrison at Rumetha, Mesopotamia, was relieved on 21st July, and had retired northwards to a point four miles south of Iman Hamza. The Arabs were still carrying out their sporadic attacks on the railway and on outposts. A column, composed of all arms, was shortly to proceed to the Kufa area to clear up the situation. There had been at least two or three hundred casualties among native units, and he thought that five or six British officers had been killed or wounded.

Mr. Austen Chamberlain informed Mr. Lambert that he understood that the provisional estimate for the civil administration of Mesopotamia for the year 1920-21 was £7,000,000, exclusive of port and railway expenditure, which would be self-supporting. Final estimates could not be put forward until a more stable condition was reached. It was not anticipated that any charge would fall on the British Exchequer in connection with the civil administration. It was not possible to give a revised estimate of the military expenditure at present, but he feared that an additional sum would be needed.

GENERAL NEWS ITEMS.

A Cabinet Council was held yesterday, Mr. Bonar Law presiding.

The 1st Battalion Liverpool Regiment left Jersey yesterday morning en route for Cork.

The Victorian arrived yesterday at Sydney, Nova Scotia, with the delegates to the Imperial Press Conference to be held at Ottawa.

Dr. Henley Henson, Bishop-elect of Durham, attended yesterday in Yorkminster before the Vicar-General of York, when his election was formally confirmed. There was no opposition.

In the House of Commons yesterday, Mr. McCurdy stated, in reply to Mr. L'Estrange Malone, that, apart from butter and sugar, of which there was a world-shortage, he did not anticipate, on present prospects of supplies, such a shortage of any other food-stuffs before the end of the coming winter as would be necessitate rationing.

The National Conference of gas workers' delegates was held in London yesterday, when the recent settlement was under consideration. It was stated that reports from the majority of districts indicated great dissension. The Conference instructed the Negotiating Committee to confer with the National Federation of Gas Employers, with the view of dealing with the whole question and of considering the new facts that had arisen.

THE PRISONERS AT BAKU.

QUESTIONS IN THE HOUSE.

THE GOVERNMENT AND RUSSIA.

INTERESTING EXCHANGE OF MESSAGES.

Mr. Ronald McNeill, in the House of Commons yesterday, asked whether information had reached the Government from the Commander-in-Chief of the Mediterranean, that the Bolshevists at Baku, in violation of their promises to transfer the British prisoners to a villa outside the town, were keeping fifty British prisoners confined in one small room, where they were suffering from heat and vermin, while all but two of the French prisoners had been released; what steps the French Government took to secure the release of the French prisoners, and whether the Government were taking urgent measures to save the lives of the British naval and military prisoners who had survived the torture of the Black Hole of Baku.

Mr. Bonar Law said that the Commander-in-Chief in the Mediterranean telegraphed that a Commander who had arrived at Constantinople from Tiflis—which, however, was a great distance from Baku—had given the report contained in the first part of the question. The Government had, for a long time, been putting the strongest pressure on the Soviet Government in regard to this matter. That Government had disclaimed responsibility for the acts of the Azerbaijan Republic, and had said that the reports were unfounded. They had received a telegram that morning from the Soviet Government, and, as this subject was so important, he would read it to the House. The telegram was from Copenhagen, and it ran—

"M. Litvinoff states that he is informed by the Azerbaijan Government that members of the British Mission at Baku are treated most humanely. The previous reports received by His Majesty's Government about the ill-treatment of the British subjects in Russia have proved to be inaccurate, which now seems to be the case in regard to the prisoners at Baku. Equally inaccurate is the information in the possession of His Majesty's Government about the mutual relations between the Government of the Azerbaijan Independent Republic and the Commander of the Russian troops. M. Litvinoff protests, in His Government's name, against the decision to suspend the repatriation of Russian prisoners. The Russian Government have particularly carried out the agreement, except for a few men left in Siberia, while His Majesty's Government appear to have taken no steps to repatriate many hundreds of Russians in their hands. The Russian Government are most anxious that the agreement should be carried out in its entirety as soon as possible, and, with this object in view, suggest that His Majesty's Government should appoint a date on which a complete exchange should take place of all Russians in the Empire, against British subjects left in Russia. The Russian Government would be prepared to use their influence to induce the Azerbaijan Government to bring to the frontiers all British subjects detained in Baku."

THE BRITISH REPLY.

The reply, continued Mr. Bonar Law, was:—

"Please inform M. Litvinoff that our latest information is that British prisoners at Baku are receiving most inhumane treatment. We are, however, prepared, as indeed we always have been, to repatriate all Russian subjects in the British Empire as soon as the Soviet Government will repatriate all British subjects in Russia and Baku. We, therefore, accept M. Litvinoff's proposal for the complete exchange of British and Russian prisoners, at a date and place to be selected, and will make arrangements to this effect as soon as we learn that the Soviet Government will secure repatriation to this country of all British subjects, without any exceptions whatever, including those detained in Baku. Until the belief—which is widespread, and is greatly exciting British public opinion—that these prisoners have been inhumanely treated has been dissipated, it must be obvious to the Soviet Government that the pending negotiations must be futile."

In his own opinion, added Mr. Bonar Law, they had done everything that they could to secure the release of these prisoners.

Mr. Ronald McNeill asked whether the Government had taken any steps to verify the report of the Commander-in-Chief in the Mediterranean whether they were aware that the Italian Government had a diplomatic representative at Baku; and whether they had tried to use the good offices of the Italian Government to find out whether these men were being tortured to death or not.

Commander Viscount Curzon asked whether it was not a fact that the late Dutch Consul at Baku gave information which was exactly contrary to that given by M. Litvinoff.

Mr. Bonar Law said that the information of the Dutch representative, while at Baku, was that the prisoners were not satisfactorily treated, but he (Mr. Bonar Law) thought they could not accept as absolutely accurate statements coming to our representative at Tiflis, which could only be obtained from refugees.

After further questions, Mr. Ronald McNeill asked leave to move the adjournment of the House, in order to call attention to the failure of the Government to take adequate measures to save the lives of British prisoners undergoing close confinement and torture at Baku.

The Speaker—I do not understand what measures the hon. member suggests that the Government should have taken to rescue these unfortunate men.

Mr. Ronald McNeill said that he was prepared to suggest cogent measures if he was given the opportunity of addressing the House.

The Speaker accepted the motion, but the requisite support was not forthcoming.

THE BANTRY BURNINGS.

There was much excitement in Bantry on Monday, following the burning of Mr. Biggs's and Murphy and O'Connor's premises and the Bantry Estate Office. Messrs. Biggs's and O'Connor's places are now a mass of ruins. Claims will be lodged for compensation to the extent of £35,000. Mr. Biggs applied for, and has got, a military guard in charge of his mill yard and premises in William street. On Monday night Canon Murphy, P.P.; Dr. Callinan, J.P.; Mr. C. O'Donovan, J.P., and other prominent citizens patrolled the streets to preserve peace. The night passed quietly and excitement is subsiding.

On Monday Dr. Robinson, Local Government Board Inspector, visited the Workhouse, where the military are quartered, and it appears that all the civilian occupants, including nuns, inmates, officials, doctors, patients, and school children are to be cleared out immediately, and the entire building will be taken over for military purposes. It is stated that 400 more troops are to be quartered there.

THE MILITARY IN LIMERICK WORKHOUSE.

ATTITUDE OF THE GUARDIANS.

A special meeting of the Limerick Board of Guardians was held yesterday to discuss the situation connected with the quartering of troops in the Workhouse. The Master reported that an officer had called on him on Saturday, and said that he wanted accommodation for 150 soldiers, and later another officer said that he might require accommodation for 850 men. His concern as Master was for the patients, and the Chairman (Mr. A. Brennan) remarked that no assistance should be given soldiers who were in occupation on sufferance. The gate porter, who had been acting temporarily, left on Saturday, as being a Volunteer he said that he could not continue to act.

The Board decided that if the military required further space it should be taken by force. They could only have it by ejecting the sick and destitute, of whom there were 700 in the House.

POLICE PROPERTY CARRIED AWAY.

A railway waggon containing a large quantity of steel shutters and other goods consigned to the police at Ballaghaderreen, which was standing at Kilfree Junction, County Sligo, was raided on Sunday evening by a party of masked and armed men. They took the articles away in motor cars. The station officials were "held up" with revolvers while the raid was in progress.

MAIL TRAINS ROBBED.

The train conveying the mails from Tullow to Dublin was stopped at Sallins at 2 a.m. on Sunday by masked and armed men. The station officials and the driver of the mail car from Naas were confined in a waiting-room under a guard, and the mail bags were opened and sorted on the platform. A large number of letters was taken. At 3 a.m. the mail train from Cork arrived, and this was also "held up," and the mail bags opened and letters abstracted.

GOODS TRAIN SEARCHED.

Yesterday evening masked and armed men stopped a goods train between Kilsheelin and Carrick-on-Suir, and searched it for mails. Since the Limerick to Waterford train service was dislocated the mails have been carried in a goods train. Yesterday the mails were in the van of an empty passenger train returning from Tipperary to Waterford, and this train passed without interference.

AMERICA CUP RACE.

VICTORY OF RESOLUTE.

AN EXCITING FINISH.

SHAMROCK SAILS WELL.

Shamrock IV. and Resolute having won two races each, yesterday's final was regarded with keen interest, and resulted in a victory for the Resolute. The Cup thus remains in the U.S.A.

The Central News Special Correspondent, in a telegram dated Sandy Hook, Tuesday, says—Owing to a drastic change in the wind, which at 9.30 was blowing about 12 miles an hour, but subsided, the start was again delayed some time, and it was thought there would be no contest. It was almost calm at the lightship as late as 11.30, and the time limit to 2.25 was awaited with anxiety. At 1.50, however, the Committee signalled in favour of a start over a south-south-west course. There was a three-knot wind blowing.

The actual start was reported at 2.15, and the Shamrock was at once ahead. Seven minutes later the Resolute was to leeward, and the Shamrock, for the first time, had gained the better position at the outset.

The official starting times were:—Shamrock, two hours 17 minutes five seconds; Resolute, two hours 17 minutes 45 seconds. Both vessels were handicapped at the starting time of two hours 17 minutes.

At 2.32 Shamrock was 200 yards to the weather and gaining. Her speed was surprising the experts, and at 2.40 she had increased her lead to a quarter of a mile. Resolute's bad start was explained by obstruction from tow barges. She was forced to tack to starboard by them at first, and later they threatened to block her course.

SHAMROCK DOING WELL.

At 3 o'clock Shamrock had a lead of half a mile. The Resolute was a trifle to windward, and was getting a better breeze to this point, and, according to the time indicated, the race had been the best of the series. As it developed it became close and exciting. At this juncture the wind dropped disappointingly, and the distance between the two yachts was diminished to fifty yards in forty-two minutes. The Shamrock seemed much better to windward than she had been previously.

At 4 o'clock the Resolute picked up the direction of the wind and overhauled the Shamrock, taking the lead for the first time in the race. Unfortunately, the actual position pointed to another postponement. Excitement was renewed 25 minutes later, when the Resolute was seen to cross Shamrock's bow.

RESOLUTE RECOVERS.

Matters then went badly for the challenger. At 4.45 the Resolute had Shamrock a quarter of a mile behind, with a three-knot breeze blowing. By 5 o'clock she had got into the wind even better, and was rapidly forging ahead. Shamrock was steadily dropping behind, and the defender sped towards the mark with a mile and a half to her credit. With the wind increasing to nearly five knots, Resolute's advantage became constantly greater. She turned the mark at 18 minutes 29 seconds past five, and within 30 seconds had broken out her balloon jib. When she rounded, Shamrock was half a mile astern. Four minutes eight seconds later the Shamrock turned the outer mark, and it was nearly two minutes before she could break out her ballooner. With thirteen miles to go, a mile separated the rival vessels. The Resolute's speed was about four knots, and she kept her lead steadily over the next mile.

With her lead confidently established, the defender maintained her pace, and covered another two miles of the distance home without losing a yard. Then at about 6.15 the breeze increased to six knots, and the Shamrock dropped a further half-mile to the rear. There was little change while the next five miles was being covered.

At length, in a final effort to overtake the Resolute, the Shamrock broke out her spinnaker. It was reported at 7 o'clock that the Resolute was within five miles of her goal, and was going very fast.

At ten minutes past seven the Shamrock was nearly two miles astern. A few minutes later the wind dropped to a faint air, the Resolute then being four miles from the finish.

At twenty minutes to eight the Resolute was a mile from the finish, and twelve minutes later won the third and decisive race, the unofficial time being—fifty-two minutes twenty-eight seconds past seven.

Shamrock finished five minutes thirty-four seconds past eight, unofficial time.

VARIABLE BREEZES.

At one time, owing to lack of wind, it was doubtful whether the race could be finished within the time limit. In fact, the breeze was extremely variable all day, and caused the competitors many an anxious moment.

OFFICIAL TIMES.

Resolute finished at 52 mins. 22 secs. past 7. When the Resolute crossed the line Shamrock appeared nearly one mile behind.

Shamrock finished at 5 mins. 24 secs. past 8 o'clock.

The official finishing times were:—
Resolute, 52 mins. 15 secs. after 7.
Shamrock, 5 mins. 20 secs. after 8.

The official elapsed time was:—
Resolute, 5 hours 35 mins. 15 secs.
Shamrock, 5 hours 48 mins. 20 secs.

FALL OF ADRIANOPLE.

TOWN OCCUPIED BY GREEK TROOPS.

The Press Association's Special Correspondent with the Greek Army in Thrace, telegraphing on July 25, says:—Yesterday a deputation, comprising the Vali, the Metropolitan, some prominent Bulgarians and Armenians, and the leaders of the Turkish troops at Adrianople, called upon the Greek Commander, and offered to surrender the town, on the condition that the Greek Commander granted an armistice. This request was refused. Since yesterday the enemy have been actively pursued. They are abandoning their arms, and are in full flight. Adrianople was occupied to-day, and to-morrow the Greek King will enter the town, accompanied by the High Commissioners and the Headquarter Staff. The booty has not yet been counted. The operations in Thrace are terminating favourably for Greece.

REPORTED DEATH OF THE MIKADO.

The Chicago Tribune (Paris edition) publishes a special cable from Tokio, which states that the Mikado has lost the use of both legs, and it is rumoured in Tokio that the Mikado is already dead, the belief being held that the bulletins are merely being issued in order to break the news to the public gently.

A Reuter's Tokio telegram says that it is officially announced that the Emperor is suffering from diabetes, with complications.

ARMED MEN IN A WORKHOUSE.

REVOLVERS PRESENTED AT AN AUDITOR.

Telegraphing last night our Midleton Correspondent says:—Towards noon to-day armed men raided the boardroom of the Midleton Workhouse, and "held up" Mr. R. Baker, Local Government Board Auditor, who is conducting the audit of the Midleton Union accounts. The raiders first made a prisoner of Mr. Kinsella, the workhouse porter, and invading the boardroom, covered the Auditor with revolvers, and ordered him to face the wall while they searched his bag and desk. Some documents were taken. The raid lasted about 15 minutes. No harm was done to Mr. Baker, and he is continuing the audit.

ARMED ATTACK ON A POLICE PATROL.

COURTMARTIAL IN CORK.

At a General Courtmartial held in Cork Barracks yesterday, presided over by Lieut.-Colonel J. C. Hannay, D.S.O., Patrick Dineen and John Dineen, brothers, of Brade, Leap, Co. Cork, were charged with taking part with others in an attack with firearms on a police patrol consisting of four men near Leap on 2nd July. On a second count they were charged with aiding and abetting in the attack.

Captain Longworth was Judge Advocate, and Captain W. G. Gover, O.B.E., prosecuted.

The accused declined to recognise the Court.

The police evidence stated that a patrol of four policemen were cycling from the village of Leap to Skibbereen for the month's pay for Leap Station, and had gone about a mile when a volley of shots was fired at them through a hedge. They dismounted and took cover by the ditch, and returned the fire with their rifles. The firing on both sides continued for about fifteen minutes, when it ceased on the part of the attackers. The police then saw about fifteen of the party rushing across a pathway. Among them they identified clearly the two accused men. The entire attacking party numbered about sixty. The police were not injured.

The Judge Advocate said that he need hardly tell the Court that an attack by a party of armed and disguised men on an enemy had been in all periods of history treated as murder. The enemy should come forward in some open manner, and should wear some distinctive marks, and any person who did not do so was not engaged in warfare, but in committing murder.

The Court found the accused "not guilty" on the second charge. Judgment was reserved on the first count.

MILITARY RESTRICTIONS IN CORK.

SPORTS MEETING STOPPED.

Three thousand people were assembled yesterday afternoon at the Mardyke cricket grounds, Cork, where the Cork Young Ireland Cycle Club were holding a Sports Meeting. Soon after the fixture had started a large party of military arrived, stopped the proceedings, and cleared the ground. The people dispersed quietly.

GIRLS' HAIR CUT OFF.

Two girls in Granard, Co. Longford, were overpowered by a dozen young men on Saturday night, and their hair was cut off, because it was alleged that they spoke to soldiers. The girls had been previously warned.

CORK EX-SOLDIER'S DEATH.

REFUSAL TO PRODUCE MILITARY WITNESSES.

At the North Infirmary, Cork, yesterday, Coroner Murphy resumed the inquest on James Burke, an ex-soldier, who was killed in a fracas with the military on the 18th inst. The inquiry had been adjourned for the evidence of the military.

Mr. J. T. Wolfe, Crown Solicitor, said that a few hours before this ex-soldier met his death Brigadier-General Smyth had been brutally murdered, and there had been no investigation of his death. That was so because there were so many murderers and sympathisers with murders in the county. In the atmosphere in which they were unfortunately living, he came to the conclusion that if he brought military witnesses there that day and disclosed their identity he would expose their lives to danger, and he had decided not to produce these witnesses unless he got an assurance from responsible persons that these men's lives would be safe from the assassins that stalked the country at present.

Mr. W. F. O'Connor, solicitor for the next-of-kin, said that the military had taken up an extraordinary position in not producing military witnesses. The facts pointed to Bourke having been killed without justification, and if the jury thought that the deceased man was murdered it was their duty to say so.

The jury found that death was due to shock and hemorrhage, caused by a bayonet wound, wilfully inflicted at close quarters by one of a military patrol. They also found that there was no justification for it, as, according to the evidence of Sergeant Sullivan, R.I.C., the deceased man and his companions had complied with the order "hands up." They sympathised with the relatives, and strongly recommended them to the consideration of the military authorities.

CIVILIANS AND POLICEMEN IN LIMERICK.

STRAINED RELATIONS.

Yesterday the Rev. Father Robinson, C.S.S.R., and Father Philip, O.F.M., visited the County Inspector at William street Barrack, Limerick, with reference to occurrences during the past few evenings, and, in particular, with reference to the "holding up" of men returning from the Confraternity. The interview was a prolonged one, the priests bringing to the County Inspector's notice some cases of "frightfulness," of which they said that they had been eye-witnesses. The County Inspector in return complained of the attack on last Saturday, when three of his men were wounded.

After an exchange of views, the priests promised on their side to use all their influence to prevent any interference with the police on the part of the people, and the County Inspector on his side to confine the operations of the police to strictly police duties. He guaranteed that men returning in an orderly fashion from the Confraternity meetings would not be molested in any way. Personally, he was most anxious to do everything to promote peace in the city.

THE BALLYLANDERS FIRE.

Garryspillane Creamery, near Ballylanders, which was bombed and burned in the early hours of Sunday morning, was a very fine building, which had been recently equipped with up-to-date machinery. The total damage is estimated at about £20,000.

A Nenagh correspondent telegraphs:—Last night Borrisokane, Tipperary, Courthouse, a substantial building, was completely destroyed by fire. A motor lorry used by the police was removed from a Nenagh Garage last night and taken about a mile outside the town and burned. Nothing but the twisted ironwork remains.

PARLIAMENT.

THE FINANCE BILL.

REPORT STAGE CONCLUDED.

THE CORPORATIONS TAX.

POSITION OF CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETIES.

In the House of Commons yesterday the Speaker took the chair at 2.45 p.m.

The report stage of the Finance Bill was continued.

Colonel Wedgwood moved the omission of Clause 49, which imposes the corporation profits tax. This tax, he said, was not only bad because it was a new tax, and, therefore, had an unexpected effect on business, but it was, in effect, a new form of income tax, with the special viciousness that it could be easily transferred from those on whom it was levied on to the backs of the general community. It exempted some of the people who had made most money out of the war—tenant farmers, for instance.

Mr. Marriott seconded the proposal. He said that the imposition of the tax was premature, and it must tend to increase the cost of living. It would also be very unequal and unfair in its incidence.

Mr. Chamberlain, in resisting the amendment, pointed out that he was meeting the case of public utility companies, including railway companies, in a later amendment, by suspending the operation of the tax for three years. He did not think it possible to find a fairer tax than this, or one that could be collected with less hardship.

Mr. Bigland said that the tax would reduce the capital value of every limited liability company.

Admiral Adair said that he wished the tax to be postponed. He thought that we were overdoing the repayment of debt.

Mr. Dennis said that he considered that the tax was based on no principle.

The amendment to leave out the clause was rejected by 177 votes to 122.

The announcement of the result was received with cheers.

CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETIES.

Mr. Kidd moved the addition of a new subsection to the clause, providing that "where the profits are profits or surplus arising from the trading with its own members, of a society registered under the Industrial and Provident Societies Acts, no tax shall be charged." He argued that so long as the trade of a co-operative society was confined to its own members, any surplus could not be characterised as profit, but simply represented economies effected in expenditure.

Major Glyn seconded the amendment, remarking that it was unfair and hypocritical to impose a penalty upon the legitimate trading of co-operative societies.

Mr. Waterson supported the amendment.

Mr. Chamberlain said that there were various reasons for taxing corporate bodies, but the one pertinent to the amendment was their enjoyment of the privilege of limited liability in trade. That was a privilege shared by the co-operative society. Where there was a tax, it must be assessed on something. In the co-operative society the profits were very narrow, and would not form a basis of assessment. He chose the method taken in the bill because it seemed, on the whole, the fairest. Surely, that part of the surplus returned to the individual as discount on his purchase was distinguishable from that part of the surplus which was made the corporate property of the whole body? He did not think that the co-operative movement should be exempt from all taxation. They would not be wise to claim that in their own interests, as they would accumulate a mass of ill-will throughout the country if it was felt that they were unwilling to take their full share of the burdens that other people had to bear. He was asking for only £180,000 from a turnover of £200,000,000, which was only one-tenth of one per cent. That was not dealing a serious blow to the movement or discouraging thrift. It had been suggested that he should, instead, levy a small percentage tax on the share capital. Such a novel proposal could not be put down at this stage of the proceedings, as it would mean a delay which he could not contemplate. If those in authority would make some reasonable suggestion he would give it most friendly consideration.

The amendment was rejected by 182 votes to 121.

Mr. Chamberlain moved an amendment providing that the tax shall not, between January 1st, 1920, and December 31st, 1922, apply to the profits of a company which carries on wholly in the United Kingdom any gas, water, electricity, tramway, hydraulic power, canal, or railway undertaking, whose powers are limited by Act of Parliament, or to any building society.

Major Barnes denounced this concession to commercial undertakings, and was called to order for repetition.

Mr. T. Griffiths protested against concessions to vested interests, and seconded a motion by Major Barnes for the rejection of the amendment, so far as it affected such undertakings.

Colonel Wedgwood said that it was obvious that the Corporation profits tax was intended to be a tax which could be passed on to the general community. These statutory undertakings were being exempted because they could not pass on the tax.

Mr. Swan inquired as to the value of the concession.

Mr. Baldwin defended the concession, explaining that time was required to enable these statutory undertakings to adjust themselves to the tax. There was no intention that they should escape for any longer than the probationary period proposed. The estimated amount that would be sacrificed was two three-quarter millions a year.

Major Barnes's amendment was negatived by 197 votes to 54.

An amendment moved by Sir Hamilton Benn, to include dock undertakings among the exemptions from the tax was accepted by the Chancellor, and carried by 194 votes to 44.

Mr. Chamberlain's new sub-section, as amended, was then agreed to.

Mr. Raffan formally moved the omission of Clause 54, which repeals the land value duties.

A division was taken, and the amendment was negatived by 179 votes to 67.

The report stage was concluded.

The House went into Committee on a resolution authorising the payment of salaries and expenses under the bill to continue the Ministry of Food.

Sir Donald Maclean opposed the resolution, and, urging the Committee to ration the Food Ministry's expenses, moved that the total sum to be expended under the Act should not exceed £150,000.

Mr. Remer seconded the amendment.

Mr. McCurdy resisted the amendment, contending that the Ministry was, by its policy, saving the public many millions a year. It also had 132 millions worth of stocks to realise.

Sir W. Davison objected to voting £240,000 a year for the rationing of sugar, when there was plenty of sugar in the country.

Mr. George Roberts defended the resolution, and the amendment was rejected by 91 to 33.

(Left Sitting)

IRISH CENSUS BILL.

In the House of Lords yesterday,

Lord Southwark moved the second reading of the Health Resorts and Watering-places Bill, which gives local authorities the power to levy a rate of a penny in the pound for the purpose of advertising the amenities and advantages of their district as a health resort.

Lord Askwith moved the rejection of the bill, on the ground that it was unnecessary, undesirable, and uneconomical. He said that he considered that it was unfair that all the inhabitants of a town should be rated for this purpose. Those who benefited by the advertisements should be the persons to pay.

On a division, the bill was rejected by 37 votes to 12.

WAR PENSIONS BILL.

The Earl of Crawford moved the second reading of the War Pensions Bill, which has passed the Commons.

The motion was agreed to.

THE BANK NOTES (IRELAND) BILL.

The Bank Notes (Ireland) Bill was read a second time.

THE CENSUS (IRELAND) BILL.

The Earl of Crawford moved the second reading of the Census (Ireland) Bill, which provides for the taking of a census in Ireland on Sunday, April 24th, of next year. He said that the Irish census had always been extremely good, and the authorities saw no reason why this one should not be equally good.

The bill was read a second time.

The Unemployment Insurance Bill passed through Committee, with a number of drafting amendments.

The House adjourned at 6.30 p.m.

MURDER IN CO. MAYO.

OLD AGE PENSIONER BEATEN TO DEATH.

Our Ballina Correspondent telegraphs:—Details of the murder of an old age pensioner named Anne Kilgallen, of Massra, Skreen, have just reached here. The old woman lived alone in a cottage, and was last seen alive on Sunday evening. About midnight a neighbour saw a man knocking at the door of the cabin. Screams were later heard in the house, but no one appears to have gone to the assistance of the old woman. Next morning her body was found battered almost beyond recognition. A man has been taken into custody on a charge of wilful murder. An inquest was held yesterday by Dr. Flannery, the Coroner.

Evidence of the woman's terrible injuries, which included a fractured skull, was given by Drs. Cowell and Clarke.

The jury returned a verdict of wilful murder against some person or persons unknown.

SPECIAL EXTRA.

THE REMNANT OF A COSSACK ARMY.

A Times telegram from Teheran on July 24 says:—General Tolstoff, Commanding the Cossack Army in the Urals has reached Teheran, with 150 Cossacks and some 15 women and children, in an emaciated and a desperate condition. This is the remnant of the 10,000 men who retreated from the Urals in the Bolshevist onrush in the early spring. They made their way on ice down the Volga (? Ural), crossed the Caspian, and trekked across the country to Shahrud.

THE BRITISH PRISONERS AT BAKU.

A telegram from Constantinople on July 25 says:—It is believed in well-informed circles that when the question of the British prisoners at Baku is next raised between the Foreign Office and M. Krassin, or whoever may then represent the Soviet Government, the Bolshevists will contend that Azerbaijan, being an independent proletarian State, the Russian Soviet Republic is unable to control its foreign relations. Lest this explanation should command belief in Socialist circles in England, it is desirable to make known the following facts concerning the Communists of Azerbaijan. In the first place, since the Turks and some local Pan-Islamists sold Azerbaijan to the Soviet Government, the country from being Tartar and Moslem has become mainly Russian and Bolshevist. Of the six principal Commissaries who now govern the country the two least influential are the Tartars, Narimanoff and Husseinoff. Tankratoff, a former Russian sailor of the Caspian flotilla, and a murderous ruffian, is the most powerful, and after him ranks Mme. Raskolnokova, a Jewess of 20, wife of the Russian who commanded the expedition to Enzeli, a clever and bitter woman. The army is almost entirely Russian, the majority of the Tartars having been disbanded. The Tartars, whose sole crime is that they belonged to the Musavat Party, or possess property, are now being imprisoned, and often executed, as if they belonged to the Russian bourgeoisie. Another Bolshevist raid across the Armenian border was defeated this time by General Dro, a well-known Dashnakist leader, who hanged the three senior Russian Bolshevist officers captured for attacking a neutral State during negotiations, and permitting outrages on the civil population on the part of their troops in Georgia. The Bolshevist representative at Tiflis, Commissioner Kyroff, arrived with a huge Staff, including M. Benckendorff, the son of a late Russian Ambassador. Once settled down Kyroff hastened to annoy the Georgians, indulging in propaganda, and openly saying that he regarded the peace with Georgia as an armistice soon to expire. The Kyroff Mission owns 81 automobiles, and includes a large number of expensive courtesans, whose jewellery and toilettes are the talk of Tiflis.

THE NEW RAILWAY RATES.

PROBABLE CONCESSION.

The Central News Lobby Correspondent says—There is every possibility of a Government concession in the matter of the proposed increase in railway rates. The full scope of it is not yet clear, but the prevailing Lobby rumours suggest that the increases on return tickets, instead of being applied on August 5th, will be postponed to a date, probably August 15. This would be a concession of the very greatest importance to the majority of August holiday-makers. As very few people nowadays have less than a fortnight's holiday, and as return tickets taken before the date of the increase will be available for the return journey for two months, all return tickets taken before August 15th, if that be the appointed day, will give the advantage of present rates to all legitimate holiday-makers who would have taken their holiday within the month of August. There is not the same objection to the increase being put on forthwith for single tickets, as the taking of a return ticket will furnish proof of the genuine holiday-maker.

MINISTRY OF TRANSPORT AND EXCURSION TRAINS.

Replying to Major Barnes in the House of Commons yesterday, Mr. Neal said that the Minister of Transport was in favour of the resumption of excursion trains as soon as the companies were able to run them. The Rates Advisory Committee investigated the question, but did not recommend excursion fares, because the witnesses for the companies generally said that they were unable to run the trains. He was pressing the companies, as far as they possibly could, to arrange such trains, even if some companies were unable to do so.

SHERIFFS (IRELAND) BILL.

A bill entitled "An Act to Amend the Law relating to the Offices of Sheriff and Under-Sheriff in Ireland and for other purposes incidental thereto" has been introduced into the House of Commons. The bill enacts that the office of under-sheriff shall be made by the Lord Lieutenant instead of by the Sheriff, and that every under-sheriff appointed under the Act shall hold office during the Lord Lieutenant's pleasure, and his tenure of office shall not be affected by the appointment of a new sheriff. An under-sheriff appointed under this Act shall (in addition to any other disqualification) be disqualified for being elected, chosen, or being a member of any county borough council, county council, or district council, or a town commissioner or poor law guardian.

The salaries payable to sheriffs by county borough councils and county councils are to be annual salaries, which will include allowances for clerical assistance, and be payable to the said under-sheriffs as follows, namely:—(a) To the under-sheriff of the County Borough of Dublin, £350; (b) to the under-sheriff of every other county borough, £250; and (c) to the under-sheriff of every county, £200. The following sums shall be paid annually out of moneys provided by Parliament to the under-sheriffs appointed under this Act:—(a) To the under-sheriff of the County Borough of Dublin, the sum of £250; (b) to the under-sheriff of every other county borough, the sum of £150; and (c) to the under-sheriff of every county, the sum of £200. The bill also defines the power of County Court Judges to enforce the performance of the duties of under-sheriffs.

TRIBUTE TO THE LATE COLONEL SMYTH.

In a letter in the Glasgow Herald, Mr. J. Ewing, who writes from Edinburgh, describes the late Colonel Smyth, who was murdered at Cork, as one of the most famous personalities in the Ninth (Scottish) Division. He went to France with the original Expeditionary Force, took part in the retreat from Mons, and lost his left arm by a shell wound in the first battle of Ypres. For a singularly daring piece of patrol work in the advance after the Marne he was awarded the D.S.O. while still a lieutenant. He afterwards returned to France with the Ninth Division. The writer adds:—"Though five times seriously wounded his nerve remained unshaken, and his unflinching courage was both an example and a rebuke to weaker men. He was loved by his men, and there can have been no more popular commander in France than Colonel Smyth. But he had greater qualities than those of mere courage, and his talents were such that he seemed likely to have a remarkable career, now so cruelly cut short. A fellow-commander who was killed at Arras on the 9th April, 1917, once said that if all battalion C.O.'s were like Colonel Smyth the war would be over in a month. This, at least, was the feeling of all K.O.S.B.'s. All who knew him were aware that no terrors, no threats, would deter him from carrying out his duty. He was a type of man whom the nation can ill afford to lose. His courage, his ability, and his character were much above the average, and it was one of the mysteries of the war that he never received a V.C. His cowardly murder will give to many a Scotsman a personal interest in bringing pressure to bear on the Government to put an end to the orgy of crime and blood in Ireland, and bring the assassins to justice."

THE STATE OF IRELAND.

ITS EFFECT ON INDUSTRY.

CAPITALISTS SLOW TO INVEST MONEY.

THE DEMAND FOR IRISH MANUFACTURES.

The annual meeting of the Dublin Industrial Development Association was held in the Council Chamber of the City Hall, Dublin, last night—Mr. Michael O'Dea (President) presiding.

The President moved the adoption of the annual report, which indicated what had been done in developing Irish industries during the year, especially in regard to exports to America. He said that during the year the Association had received a great number of applications for information regarding the establishment of new industries, but although he had replied to each he regretted that they had not been so far successful in establishing any new industry during the year. The conditions were entirely against establishing new industries on account of the state of the country and the nervousness of capitalists. He noticed in the newspapers that flotations of new companies, reaching hundreds of millions of pounds, were advertised in England, but he had not seen a single prospectus of any new industry in Ireland recently, although the demand for Irish manufactured goods had never been as healthy during the life of the Association as it was at present. Manufacturers of Irish goods had twice as many orders at present as they could deal with. That was the general state of affairs in Ireland at present, but they had not sufficient producers. No country needed more production than Ireland, because they had to foot a bill of between 40 and 50 millions in taxes and pay something like 120 millions for imported goods, the greater portion of which could be produced in Ireland if things were as they should be. Referring to the finances of the Association, he said that the expenses were very serious, the total income being £390 for the year, while it should be £1,000. There was very little use in conducting a business Association like that unless the Irish people helped them to develop the industries of the country.

INCREASED PRODUCTION.

Mr. John Good, J.P., seconded the report, and said that the President had been somewhat pessimistic in reference to the finances of the Association. There had been an increase of 50 per cent. for the past year, and he thought that that was an appreciation on the part of the public, of the work of the Association. Those who were engaged in trade knew that trade had to carry an increased burden of taxation caused by the war and the burden of heavy rates and increased wages. He entirely agreed with the President that trade in this country had to compete with countries which had not the same burdens, and he said that the only way in which this country could enter into successful competition was to increase its production. He hoped that those engaged in trade in this country would never cease to lay importance on the fact that the very life of the country lay in production. The war had brought about a great re-distribution of trade, and whether this country would receive, or was about to receive its proportion of this redistribution, was a matter that ought to be considered. There was no use in closing their eyes to the fact that this country had benefitted very largely by the war. There had been great industrial development in the North of Ireland, but he thought that they were somewhat to blame in other parts of Ireland for their apathy in not realising the importance that trade bore to their existence. He was afraid also that their educational system was somewhat at fault in this matter, and that the importance of the urgent necessity of trade was not impressed on the minds of the young in such a way as it ought to be. It was not done in the secondary schools as it ought to be, and he was sorry to say that it had not been done in their Universities as it ought to have been done. In their educational system there was not enough attention given to commerce. Conditions were very different in America, and he hoped that commerce would have the attention from educational authorities that it deserved.

HOUSING NEEDS.

Proceeding, Mr. Good referred to the necessity for housing accommodation for the workers, and said that he thought that in the capital city of Ireland there was no reason why there should not be a much larger development of housing schemes. There was as urgent a need for housing accommodation in Ireland as in Great Britain, and the reason that sufficient houses were not being erected here was that in Great Britain conditions existed that had been refused over and over again to Ireland. That Association would be doing a work of national importance if it pressed for the same financial terms in regard to housing in Ireland as were given in Great Britain.

Mr. Dowdall, President of the Cork Industrial Development Association, referred to the influence of the Association in bringing shipping to Dublin and Cork.

Mrs. Maud Walsh, speaking of Irish economic development, said that thousands of Irish people made no effort to purchase Irish-made goods, and thousands thought that Irish goods were inferior, and preferred to buy from foreign markets. They wanted co-operation in this matter.

Miss Louis Bennett, Secretary of the Women Workers' Association, said that in Ireland, as elsewhere, there must be very considerable changes as they were approaching the cooperative idea.

Mr. Darrel Figgis said that they were beginning to see a commercial blockade of this country being very craftily introduced. Irish men and women should become fully aware of the needs of the nation.

Mrs. Johnston, Belfast, advocated the production of Irish goods under fair conditions as an incentive to their sale.

The Rev. Father Lynch, Monaghan, also supported the motion, which was passed.

Mr. Cosgrave proposed a resolution advocating closer connection and co-operation between the public boards of the country and the Association, and fostering and developing Irish industries.

Mr. Erskine Childers seconded the motion, which was passed.

A motion was also passed, welcoming the establishment of a direct shipping service between Ireland and the United States of America, and endorsing the establishment of services between Ireland and Continental countries.

The meeting concluded with a vote of thanks to the Chairman.

BISHOP OF BIRMINGHAM AND IRISH MURDERS.

The Bishop of Birmingham (Dr. Russell Wakefield), who conducted the Service at the Bishopgate Congregational Chapel, London, yesterday referred to the situation in Ireland, and, commenting upon the shooting of one whilst making the "sign of the Sacrament with holy water," said—"It is distressing among people with the kindest hearts, the most helpful, and in many ways the tenderest nature, but I tell you frankly, it no more belongs to the Irish character than it belongs to the character of my little grandchild that I left this morning. They regard the things they are doing as part of the warfare, and not as a crime. You may say—'How can it be?' I do not know how it can be, but it is, and I confess we cannot understand the Irish, and they do not give us credit for that real longing to be of prompt service to that country. If I were in Ireland I would boldly tell these people whom I lived with, and with whom I was brought up, that the English people to-day have only one desire—to show a heartfelt love and trust of that country, and until you can persuade them of that, not all the legislation brought together by the wisest living statesman will help."

PLUCKY RESCUE BY CORK LADIES.

A plucky rescue was effected in Church Bay, County Cork, on Sunday. It appears that a Mrs. Daly, who went for a bathe in the Bay, got into difficulties, and was swept beyond her depth by a rough sea. She cried for help, and Miss Clare Guisani, daughter of Dr. Guisani, and Miss Kathleen Tuke, daughter of Mr. Tuke, manager of Messrs. Bass and Company, at Cork, promptly swam to her assistance. Miss Guisani got behind, and having seized her by both shoulders, swam pushing her to the shore. Miss Tuke, who, at the same time, had seized one of her arms, pulled her in the same direction, and after a severe battle with the waves, they managed to land her on the rocks, but the three were swept back by a return wave into the water, and both rescuers lost hold of the drowning lady. They ultimately succeeded in getting Mrs. Daly ashore. The rescue was effected with great difficulty and merits the recognition of the Royal Humane Society.

THE RAILWAY SITUATION.

NO CHANGE IN DUBLIN.

TROOPS DELAYED IN COUNTY DONEGAL.

The situation in regard to the carriage of military goods on the railways underwent no change yesterday. The only new incident, as far as the Dublin district is concerned, occurred on the Great Southern and Western system. A few days ago the driver of a goods train from Kingsbridge received written instructions to stop at Lucan and pick up three waggons containing military equipment. The driver, however, disobeyed orders, and drove the train through Lucan station without stopping. When asked for an explanation, he said that as it was not usual to stop at Lucan he forgot his instructions. Both the driver and guard were allowed to resume duty. On Monday similar instructions were given, and the driver stopped at Lucan, but refused to allow the waggons to be hitched to the train. He was subsequently dismissed. The waggons are still at Lucan under a military guard.

MAIL TRAIN HELD UP AT DUNDALK.

When the Dublin-Belfast mail train arrived at Dundalk at 8.37 yesterday morning the fireman refused to work the engine unless six soldiers of the R.F.A., who, with a sergeant, entered the train at Dundalk, left. The sergeant declined to leave the train, and refused to allow his men to travel by the ordinary passenger train, which was leaving for Belfast at the time. After a delay of forty-five minutes another fireman was secured, and the train left, carrying the soldiers to Carrickfergus. The fireman is a native of Dublin. This is the first occasion on which a passenger train has been "held up" at Dundalk junction. A Dundalk driver has been suspended for refusing to work a train from Enniskillen which carried troops.

TROOPS STOPPED AT LETTERKENNY.

TWENTY-SEVEN RAILWAY OFFICIALS SUSPENDED.

Exciting scenes occurred at Letterkenny Railway Station on the arrival on Monday evening of a train from Londonderry to Burtonport with a party of twelve men of the Queen's Own West Surrey Regiment with food supplies for the garrison at Dungloe. The station was in possession of a large hostile crowd, who swarmed on the train as soon as it arrived, while others gathered along the permanent way to prevent the train from going further. Men who jumped on the engine threatened the driver and the fireman, and the latter, it is said, disappeared. Several volunteers offered to take his place on the engine, but owing to the hostile attitude of the crowd the engine-driver decided that it would be unsafe to proceed any further with the train. Meanwhile the troops remained in their carriages, while the crowd indulged in a hostile demonstration, shouting "Up, the Rebels," and singing "The Soldier's Song." As the result of this conduct military reinforcements were hurriedly summoned from Londonderry, and about midnight two large motor lorries, with troops and a Lewis gun, arrived. By that time, however, the crowd had dispersed, and the troops in the train were able to go to the police barrack, where they were quartered for the night. Two hundred passengers for stations beyond Letterkenny were stranded for the night. No trains have reached Burtonport from Londonderry since Friday. The service has already been reduced by half, and it is feared that the line will be closed. Twenty-seven railway officials have now been suspended by the Lough Swilly Company for refusing to work trains carrying soldiers. Yesterday morning the troops who were held up at Letterkenny on Monday night took their seats in the train, but the officials refused to work it. The soldiers declined to alight, and the service was blocked during the day. Consignments of food have been despatched by motor lorry to the troops at Dungloe.

TRAIN KEPT BACK AT STRABANE.

In consequence of the presence of armed police in a carriage at Strabane, the train from that station to Letterkenny was delayed for two hours yesterday morning. Five of the company's servants were dismissed. Other officials worked the train.

PILGRIMS STRANDED.

All passenger trains continue to be "held up" at Castlerea, and are not allowed to proceed any farther. The mails are transferred to a goods train which is always awaiting the arrival of the mail train. Pilgrims to Croaghpatrick on Sunday were completely stranded. They had to break their journey at Castlerea and make the remainder of the journey by motor car.

CLERICAL STAFF TRANSFERRED TO ENGLAND

It is stated that a number of the London and North-Western Railway Company's clerical staff have been temporarily transferred from the North Wall to England.

PEACE IN BELFAST.

MEN REMAIN AT WORK.

Our Special Representative in Belfast, writing yesterday, says:—There has been a continued improvement in the condition of things to-day. As on Monday, there was a good resumption of work, but a great many still refrain from going back to the shipyards and foundries, fearing a renewal of the scenes of last week. On the whole, however, the return has been of a very satisfactory character, and quiet and good order are being restored in the city.

Large numbers of people visited the disturbed areas yesterday, and were considerably surprised at the extent of the destruction. In Keshmir road and Cupar street house property was damaged on a large scale, and in the Ballymacarrett area it will take thousands of pounds to carry out the repairs. Barbed wire entanglements are still to be seen in the various storm centres, and troops remain on duty at different points.

CHARGES OF LOOTING.

The hearing of charges of looting was resumed in the Belfast Custody Court to-day, before Mr. J. Gray, R.M., and several magistrates. A youth named John Watson, aged 19 years, of Skipton street pleaded guilty to the larceny of a tin of corned beef and a tin of salmon from the premises of Mr. James Thompson. He was sent to jail for 14 days.

A woman named Isabella Spence was charged with the larceny of a quantity of dripping, tea, sugar, bread, and butter. She made a statement to the effect that her children gave them to her and she carried them in. Everybody in the street got some. A police witness said that he never saw such a quantity of food in a working man's house. The accused and her husband, who was charged with stealing a hydrometer, were remanded.

POLICE AWARDED COMPENSATION.

COUNTY COURT JUDGE JOHNSTON'S TRIBUTE.

His Honour County Court Judge W. J. Johnston, K.C., held a special Court of Quarter Sessions yesterday in Monaghan Courthouse for the purpose of deciding a big list of malicious injury claims. The principal cases dealt with were those arising out of the attack on the Ballytrain Police Barrack. There were six claims by policemen—viz., Sergeant George Graham, Sergeant T. Lawson, and Constables Gallagher, Nelson, Roddy, and Murtagh, all from Inniskeen. They claimed £1,000 each for injuries received.

Each of them gave evidence as to the nature of the injuries they received. They all had been eight weeks in hospital, with the exception of Constable Roddy, who was four and a half months under medical attention. He had sustained a fracture of the bone in one of the feet, and the medical evidence went to show that these men would hardly ever be able to resume their police duties. The medical testimony also showed that Sergeant Lawson's mental condition had also been affected.

His Honour said that these men had passed through a most awful experience—worse than the soldiers had passed through at any time in Belgium. He had the greatest sympathy for them, and he felt that no compensation that could be awarded them would compensate them for what they had passed through; but he could not allow his sympathies for them to interfere with his duty to the ratepayers in the administration of this code. He must remember that the people who would have to pay these awards were not the people who caused the injuries. He awarded Sergeant Graham £175; Constable Gallagher, £175; Sergeant Lawson, whose case he believed to be the worst, £500; Constable Murtagh, £225; Constable Nelson, £80; and Constable Roddy, £350. His Honour allowed six guineas witnesses' expenses in each case.

THE EMBARGO ON IRISH CATTLE EXPORTS.

The Cork agent of the Great Western Railway was yesterday advised that an order had been issued by the Ministry of Agriculture that no animal is to be landed in Great Britain from any part of Ireland except for immediate slaughter. As there is no accommodation at Fishguard for the slaughter of live stock, there will be no shipment from either Cork or Waterford to Fishguard until further notice. Buyers anticipating the issue of this Order, have not been purchasing for export, and consequently the fairs held in Munster yesterday, and serving the ports of Cork and Waterford, have been almost paralysed.

The Labour Party will to-day ask for time for a discussion on the increase of railway fares, and it is expected that the demand will be granted. Many Unionist and Liberal members also desire a debate in view of the widespread feeling on the matter.

BILLS IN COMMITTEE.

RE-ESTABLISHING OVERSEAS TRADE.

GOVERNMENT CREDIT AND INSURANCE.

A Standing Committee of the House of Commons, presided over by Mr. Mount, yesterday considered Sir Robert Horne's bill authorising the granting of credits and the undertaking of insurances for the purposes of re-establishing overseas trade. The bill proposes that for the purpose of re-establishing trade between the United Kingdom and Finland, Litvia, Esthonia, Lithuania, Poland, Czecho-Slovakia, Rumania, Georgia, and Armenia the Board of Trade, with the consent of the Treasury, may, where it appears to be advisable to do so by reason of circumstances arising out of the war, make arrangements for granting persons or companies credits in connection with the export to any such country of goods wholly or partly produced or manufactured in the United Kingdom, and undertake the business of insurance of any such goods where risks of an abnormal or exceptional nature are involved. It is provided that the aggregate amount of such credits outstanding at any time shall not exceed £26,000,000, and that the Board of Trade may by order add to the schedule to the Act enumerating the countries coming within its scope the name of any country the industrial and financial condition of which has been disorganised by the war. It is proposed that the Act shall be deemed to have had effect as from June 21st of last year.

The bill passed through Committee, and was ordered to be reported to the House for third reading.

DANGEROUS DRUGS.

ACT TO BE APPLICABLE TO IRELAND.

The Standing Committee presided over by Mr. W. Nicholson, which has on its list the Dangerous Drugs Bill, met yesterday. The bill has been prepared to give effect to the International Opium Convention signed at The Hague in 1912. By the Treaty of Versailles Great Britain bound itself to bring the Convention into force, and for this purpose to enact the necessary legislation without delay.

Sir John Baird, Parliamentary Secretary to the Home Office, moved to add in Clause 13 that in the case of a second or subsequent conviction a fine not exceeding £500 or imprisonment not exceeding two years be imposed, also that opium or cocaine shall be forfeited. This was agreed to, as was also an amendment providing that proceedings may be taken within three months from the date on which evidence sufficient in the opinion of the Secretary of State to justify a prosecution comes to his knowledge.

Sir John Bonn moved that a clause be added permitting any constable to arrest without warrant any person who had committed, attempted to commit, or was suspected of committing an offence against the Act, if he has reason to believe that the person will abscond or if the name and address of the person are unknown and cannot be ascertained.

The new clause was accepted, and also a clause that the Act shall be applicable to Ireland, subject to various modifications.

The bill as amended was reported to the House.

TRADE UNION BALLOT BILL.

STRONG OPPOSITION FROM LABOUR.

Standing Committee D met yesterday at the House of Commons on the Trade Union Ballot Bill, under the presidency of Mr. Macmaster. There was much opposition to the bill on the part of Labour leaders, every clause being opposed.

Mr. Thomas Griffiths, in moving that Clause 1, which dealt with the taking of a ballot vote under the Act, be left out, said that the clause showed an undue interference with the rights and privileges of trade unions, and it also inferred that there had been improper practices carried on in regard to ballots that unions had been called upon to undertake. Trade unionists believed that such a clause was bound to bring more unrest into the trade union world.

Mr. Wignall said that they would resist such unnecessary legislation. Even if it became law they would feel justified in resisting the bill.

Sir William Raeburn said, in support of the bill, that he had proof of a great number of instances, especially in Scotland and amongst the miners, where it was well known that ballot papers were distributed with no secrecy whatever.

Divisions were taken, and Clauses 2 and 3 were maintained by 14 votes to 8.

A question having been raised as to the construction of one of the clauses, the Committee, on the suggestion of the Chairman, adjourned to consider the position.

IRISH QUESTIONS IN PARLIAMENT.

THE IRISH GUARDS.

Major Glyn asked the Secretary for War what steps are being taken to obtain recruits in Ireland for the Irish Guards, in Wales for the Welsh Guards, and in Scotland for the Scots Guards.

Mr. Churchill—Special recruiters from these grand regiments are selected by the Commanding Officers of the regiments concerned. Recruiting is open for the Irish Guards in Ireland, and in all other areas in Great Britain for bona-fide Irishmen; for the Scots Guards in Scotland, parts of the Northern and Western Commands, the Channel Islands, and the London recruiting area; for the Welsh Guards in Wales, Liverpool, Bristol City, and the London recruiting area.

FERMOY AND LISMORE.

In reply to Lieutenant-Commander Kenworthy, Mr. Churchill said that the investigations into the outbreak of troops at Fermoy had been completed, and the General Commanding-in-Chief informed him that he had taken suitable disciplinary action. Certain officers had been censured, and a number of soldiers had had their leave stopped. In regard to Lismore, he was informed that during the search of certain houses on the night of June 27th-28th troops came into collision with civilians, and a bomb, accidentally dropped by the military, exploded in the road, and slightly wounded an officer. There was no other casualty.

Major Jameson—Will the right hon. gentleman see that the British soldiers do nothing to disturb the peace and quiet prevailing in Ireland at present, and will he give strict orders that British soldiers confine themselves to their proper function in Ireland—of acting as targets for Sinn Fein bullets? (Laughter and cheers.)

In reply to a further question by Lieutenant-Commander Kenworthy, Mr. Churchill said that he did not know at all whether a recurrence of these disturbances could be prevented in future. He hoped so; but the surest method of securing their non-recurrence was the cessation, on the part of revolutionary and rebel elements, of their campaign of murder and outrage. (Cheers.)

Lieutenant-Commander Kenworthy attempted to put a further question, but many of his words were drowned by ironical cheers, cries of "Agreed," and other interruptions, and the Speaker called for the next question on the paper.

THE CONNAUGHT RANGERS.

Mr. Churchill, in reply to Mr. L'Estrange Malone, said that he was informed that there were two killed and one wounded in the alleged mutiny by sections of the Connaught Rangers in India. The part of the question relating to what pensions their dependents would be entitled to receive should be addressed to the Pensions Minister.

SINN FEIN COURTS.

Major Glyn asked the Prime Minister whether the Courts set up by the Sinn Fein organisation in Ireland had been able to administer a form of law which protected life and property in districts where the ordinary Courts had been unable to administer the law; whether it was the intention of the Government to protect life and property, rather than to enforce law and order, where that procedure was interpreted by many in Ireland as being repugnant to their idea of Government; whether, under these circumstances, it was the intention of the Government to prosecute those taking any part in the proceedings of Sinn Fein Courts, as being participants in proclaimed meetings, and, if so, what alternative Courts was it proposed to establish to protect life and property.

Sir Hamar Greenwood replied—I can add nothing to what I said in the House on Thursday last.

THE ADMINISTRATION OF LAW.

SINN FEIN BOYCOTT OF PETTY SESSIONS.

The third sitting of the "Republican court" was held at Dungloe, Donegal, on the 22nd inst. There were two cases of assault, in which the penalty of 10s. was inflicted on each of the defendants. There was also an equity suit, the consideration of which was adjourned for six months, pending the attendance of an essential witness who resides in Scotland. A right-of-way case at Glasbeggan was adjusted.

The ordinary monthly Petty Sessions was also held at Dungloe on the 22nd inst. The attendance consisted of Major Brett, R.M.; the District Inspector, and Clerk.

There was no business before the Court, which adjourned.

With the exception of Ballinrobe, there has not been a Petty Sessions Court held in Mayo for the last three months.

At Castlerea a countryman under the influence of drink was arrested by the Volunteers for saying "To hell with the Volunteers." He was blindfolded and brought to trial, and fined £1, which he paid, and was discharged.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

AN IRISH SETTLEMENT.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—"The Premier added that he was very sure things were going to happen on the other side, and things would become very much worse and very much sterner. They must. We could not allow this to go on. Therefore, whatever anybody who was anxious for peace did, let him do it quickly. That was all he had to say."

These prophetic words of the Prime Minister are calculated to send a cold shiver down the backs of all thoughtful Irishmen. The Government are now in a terrible quandary, indeed, and, if some effort is not made by Irishmen themselves, and that quickly, to effect a rapprochement among the warring elements in the country, there is nothing left but hell, death, and damnation. Surely there is enough sanity among the great rank and file to realise the true position of affairs, and to make some endeavour to stem the tide of destruction. If by any means some kind of truce could be effected, it would have a steadying influence and, perhaps, make way for the creation of a via media. With this object in view, I would suggest that an informal meeting should be held in Dublin to which representatives of every section of the community could be invited. Every speaker should be given a fair hearing and the full proceedings be reported in the Press, so that everybody would know what was in the air. If no party political speakers turned up, it might be all the better, for the reason that there would then likely be an absence of that spleen and prejudice which, as a rule, characterise most of these axe-grinders. This is not the time for recriminations—there are, undoubtedly faults on both sides—but level-headed Irishmen must face the situation and hold out the hand of fellowship even at the sacrifice of prestige; for, after all, what is prestige when our very souls are in such danger?

As one with no politics, I believe that the only possible solution is the establishment of a full measure of Dominion Home Rule for all Ireland. There are, of course, extremists on both sides who, at first blush, would probably turn down such a proposal; but I cannot help thinking that, with the necessary overtures, these idealists would in time realise the wisdom of preserving the honour and glory of Ireland.—Yours, etc.,

"IRISHMAN."

Co. Dublin, July 27th, 1920.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—The report of the reception by the Prime Minister of the delegation from the Trade Union Congress has produced a profound effect upon the public mind. It appears that one avenue to an Irish peace remains open, and men who have been moderate Unionists, as well as men hitherto eschewing politics altogether, are asking for a lead—for an organisation and an opportunity of working for a peace that may avert bloodshed and ruin from our country. These inquiries are so numerous and insistent that I ask for the hospitality of your columns to offer a reply.

The policy which Mr. J. H. Thomas, M.P., proposed, and which the Prime Minister expressed his willingness to discuss, is the Dominion Home Rule which the Irish Dominion League, under the Presidency of Sir Horace Plunkett, has forced upon the attention of the British, American, and Irish publics. In its emergence into the arena of practical politics is to be found the fruit of the patient pioneer work of the Irish Dominion League during the last twelve months, and of the time, money, and personal labour expended upon organisation and propaganda. Opinion in Ireland has ripened in favour of the Dominion programme; but the classes of middle and moderate opinion to which appeal was especially made responded but gradually, and are now almost bewildered at the suddenness with which the issue confronts them. If they will even now give their backing of the programme, its author, and the skilled band of publicists who support him, can advise how best to make it known to the general public, and how most effectively to contribute to its success.

In a few days Sir Horace Plunkett, as President of the Irish Dominion League, will be issuing a special appeal to the public for moral and monetary support for his programme and organisation, with whose success the last hope of peace in Ireland is thus inextricably involved. The moderates and the non-politicians amongst the professional and business community can no longer remain neutral between the two competing Governments in Ireland, except as active peacemakers. They will necessarily be driven to elect which Government they will acknowledge, and they may be compelled to submit to both. The merchant, the banker, and the trader, in particular, may well find ruin in the conflicting jurisdictions of rival law courts, in the conflicting claims of rival taxgatherers, in the summary procedures of rival police forces, in the paralysis of the railways, in armed violence in street and on highway, in credit destroyed and debts rendered irrecoverable. If such as these, as well as those who are calling for a lead, will respond to this appeal, they will find in the Irish Dominion League a ready means for organised and constructed political effort in the cause of peace. Should this opportunity be lost, they may rest assured that none other will occur until after the fires of civil strife shall have waxed to their fiercest and have thereafter waned at last from sheer exhaustion.—Yours, etc.,

HENRY HARRISON, Secretary.

TOLERATION IN IRELAND.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—I desire to add my testimony to that of those who have recently expressed their views in your columns on the subject of religious tolerance in the South. I have lived for over thirty years in the County of Clare, and my pastoral duties have taken me all over the country, and, as I have said on more than one occasion, I have never received anything but the utmost respect, courtesy, and consideration from my Roman Catholic fellow-countrymen. Many a kindness I have received from them, and as for intolerance on the score of religion, I have never seen the slightest sign of it either towards myself or my parishioners. Presbyterians and Catholics live together in good fellowship, as Christian people ought to do, and I earnestly hope and believe they will continue to do so.—Yours, etc.,

R. SCOTT, Presbyterian Minister.

THE PAY OF RESIDENT MAGISTRATES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—In view of the present state of affairs in Ireland, I think it would be well if the general public in England was allowed to know something of the outrageous way in which loyal servants of the Government are treated in Ireland. The pay of a Resident Magistrate in Ireland half a century ago (or, to be absolutely accurate, in 1874) was £425 a year, reaching a maximum after thirty years' service of £675 as first-class Resident Magistrate. These men, selected from the Bar and from those of public school and University education, retired after thirty years' service on two-thirds of the above-named salary—or, roughly, about £440 a year gross. From 1874 to 1914, despite the enormous rise in income tax, general taxes, and the all-round cost of living, the pay of these servants remained unchanged.

Shortly before the war they were promised a "substantial permanent and pensionable rise" to make good all the above-mentioned financial changes, and in view of many extra duties that had devolved upon them during the past years of strife and turmoil, and also in view of the fact that, despite the increased cost of every mode of conveyance, their travelling allowance remained the same. The war broke out, and nothing was done. In 1919-20, after the war was over, Resident Magistrates in some cases found themselves on the verge of bankruptcy, and were faced with the possibility of the Home Rule Bill's becoming law, and their being forced to retire on a sum which represented to those with long service about £200 a year, and to others less. The Government, too, were aware that these men, living in lonely spots all over Ireland, never knew what it was to leave their houses in the morning with a certainty of returning alive.

At last, about two months ago, after a terrible struggle, the "substantial permanent pensionable rise," which was to enable these men to retire on a living wage pension, was to materialise, and a bill to effect that was to be brought into Parliament without delay. The "rise" was to be to a maximum of £1,100 a year after 30 years' service—a "fixed pensionable salary," to date as from April, 1919, all bonus abandoned. The Lord Lieutenant, the Chief Secretary, the Under-Secretary, and the Resident Magistrates themselves all clearly understood. It was written in black and white from the Treasury. There could be no mistake.

A few weeks ago Mr. Denis Henry, K.C., Attorney-General for Ireland, brought in the bill, and, when divulged, it was found to raise a Resident Magistrate's "permanent pensionable salary" by £25 a year—one shilling and fourpence half-penny per day, after half a century and the war. Meanwhile new posts of a second Under-Secretary and several Commissioners of Police had been created at high salaries. The Resident Magistrates could not believe it, but, on inquiry, it proved to be the simple truth. They were told they had the bonus, which does not carry a permanent fixed pension, and is evanescent, and may be abolished any day. They were given to understand, practically, that their places could be filled any day, and they had the alternative, if they did not like their treatment, of retiring to the semi-beggary to which their permanent fixed, pensionable salary condemned them.

This was the estimate of the services of these men, who serve and have served faithfully and loyally through the long half-century of trouble and turmoil until to-day—service that brings neither promotion nor honour; a service that means looking death and ruin in the face daily, and, further, a service whose opportunities and conditions are without parallel for disadvantage in any branch of Civil Service in the Empire.—Yours, etc.,

DUBLIN MUNICIPAL GALLERY.

THREE NEW PICTURES.

The Advisory Committee of the Dublin Municipal Gallery met at the Gallery on July 26th. There were present:—Mr. Coghlen Briscoe, T.C., in the chair; Mr. Dermod O'Brien, P.R.H.A.; Mr. Thomas Bodkin, and Mrs. Ellen Duncan, Curator. Arrangements were made in connection with proposed loans of pictures to the Gallery, and it was announced that, owing to the kindness of several owners, a continuous series of pictures on loan would be exhibited during the coming months.

There have just been hung on a screen in the front room of the Municipal Gallery, 17 Harcourt street, Dublin, three pictures which will attract the attention of many visitors. Two of these are by James Collinson, one of the original members of the Pre-Raphaelite Brotherhood, whose work is now but rarely seen. Since his death in 1881 only one of his pictures has been shown at a public exhibition, his portrait of Christina Rossetti, which was lent to the Glasgow Exhibition by Mr. William Rossetti.

The pair of pictures now in the Municipal Gallery, "For Sale" and "To Let," which were exhibited at the Royal Academy in 1857, are characteristic examples of Pre-Raphaelite technique, and amply justify the high opinion held of Collinson by his colleagues. "For Sale" represents a young girl of about twenty in a lavender silk flounced dress and "cottage" bonnet, with ruche and veil, and crimson ribbons tied in a huge bow under her chin. She stands in front of a stall at some country bazaar, holding a netted purse in her hand, and surrounded by a typical collection of small objects of mid-Victorian taste—little pictures, wax flowers, embroidered slippers, etc., all of which are painted with that scrupulous fidelity in matters of detail which was one of the aims of the "Brotherhood."

The same minute and careful craftsmanship characterises the companion picture, "To Let," in which a lady in a dark dress, with velvet bodice, stands at a window, in which there is a label offering "Furnished Apartments." The window sill is ornamented with an old-fashioned jardiniere bearing a camellia, an arum lily, and a hydrangea.

These two pictures were recently discovered in Dublin after a long period of oblivion, and have been lent to the Gallery by Mr. Thomas Bodkin. They are both oval, and are still in their original frames of heavy "compo," elaborately worked with the whorls and arabesques of the period. It is interesting to learn that a replica of "For Sale" has recently been added to the Tate Gallery collection, having been presented by Mr. Robert Ross shortly before his death.

The portrait of Mrs. G. Forbes Birdwood by Walter Osborne, R.H.A., which occupies the other side of the screen, has been pronounced by many critics to be, perhaps, the most beautiful of Osborne's many beautiful portraits of women, and on looking at it one is filled with regret at the untimely death of this most distinguished Irish painter.

The lady is seated in a high-backed chair, beside a table covered with a dark blue cloth, on which is a bowl of pale mauve and white flowers. She wears a black hat and fur-trimmed cape, and her hands are crossed in her lap. The expressive face, with its dark, melancholy eyes, is painted with subdued intensity and wonderful insight into the personality of the sitter, while the treatment of the dress and accessories shows the fine accomplishment of Osborne's best work. This portrait has been lent to the Gallery by Mrs. French.

Out of a maximum of 250 points in the teams' competition, single shot, Norway was first with 178, Finland second with 159, and United States third with 158. In the double shot (500 points possible), Norway was again first with 343, Sweden second with 336, and Finland third with 248.

THE CLAIMS OF POLICE PENSIONERS.

At a meeting of the Royal Irish Constabulary and Dublin Metropolitan Police Pensioners' Association, held in Lower Gardiner street, Dublin, on Monday, a telegram was sent to the Chief Secretary, appealing to him to carry into effect during the discussion in the Committee stage of the Increase of Pensions Bill, the representations made to him by the members of the Association. The Association, which has a membership of 7,000 pensioners, requested (1) to have the age limit reduced from 60 to 50 years, (2) to have the handicapping conditions and restrictions as to earned and unearned income wholly and entirely removed from the bill, as in the case of men now retiring with much more than 150 per cent. above pre-war pensions, which have now depreciated in value to almost vanishing point; (3) by restoring pensions to the same scale and equality as applicable to the men now retiring, or, failing that, by restoring them to the present-day equivalent of their pre-war puchasing power all round, so as to be in keeping with the 150 per cent. increase in the cost of living under present-day conditions; and (4) by bringing in all pensionable men who retired prior to April, 1919, within the full scope and benefit of the bill.

In acknowledging the telegram, the Chief Secretary stated that he would do all he could.

FINANCIAL NEWS

DUBLIN STOCK EXCHANGE.

LIGHT BUSINESS. NO FEATURE. HOLIDAY INFLUENCES.

There was a continuance of idle markets on 'Change yesterday, with moderate fluctuations and really no special feature. The Funds were lower on balance, but Dublin Corporation Stock after recent heavy decline showed a rallying tendency. Banks were idle, but a trifle harder in the case of Nationals. Guinness opened at a fresh decline of ¼, but later rallied. City steam and Marconi issues were altogether neglected. Home Railway Ord. were neglected, but on the whole Pre.-Ord. issues were rather disposed to harden on the proposals for the adjustment of revenue with latter day expenditure. Coats alone quoted in the Textile group and closed higher. Dunlops Rubber Ord. were firmer, but Shell Transport shares further eased. The interim dividends on Midland Great Western Railway and Johnston, Mooney, and O'Brien Bakery shares notified were unaltered.

In the Funds, Funding Loan rose ⅜ to 69⅞, and Irish Land 3 p.c. ⅛ to 51⅛, but War Loan 4½ p.c. fell ⅛ to 77½, ditto 5 p.c. ¼ to 84⅞. Victory Bonds ¼ to 77⅞, and Irish Land 2¾ p.c. ⅞ to 46½. Dublin Corporation 3½ p.c. was bid up 2 to 52 buyers.

In Banks, Nationals rallied 1/16 to 15 1/16 x.d. Munster and Leinsters were again called 6½. In Breweries, etc., Guinness issues alone quoted. The Ord. opened ¼ lower at 33¾, but later 34 was paid. The Pref., at 9½, were steady.

Among Railway Pre.-Ord. Stocks, Dublin and South-Eastern Pref. rose ½ to 31, but Great Southern and Western Pref. fell 1 to 46. Midland Great Western issues, on the whole, closed firm on the maintenance of the interim dividend. Baronial Guaranteed Shares were sellers where mentioned at lower levels. Trams were featureless.

Among Dunlops, Parent Def. was still called 57s. 6d. bid, while Dunlop Rubber Ord. hardened ⅛ to 7⅜-½.

The only transaction in Manufacturing Shares was in Coats Ord. at 55s. 9d., a rise of 6d. on the previous day's closing quotation.

In Trading, etc., Burke Pref. realised 56s. x.d. Irish Civil Service fetched 18½ for a few Shares, Imperial Tobacco fell 6d. to 50s. 6d., and Shells ⅛ to 6¾.

RECEDING STOCKS.

FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.

Conditions in the Stock Market varied but little from those of the preceding day. The volume of business was reduced to a mere trifle, and, with very few exceptions, markets were dull, with quotations tending downward. Gilt-edged stocks were dull and lower in places, prices receding from sheer lack of support. The falls in War Stocks were small, but Consols displayed more infirmity, slipping back to 46½.

A project is on foot having for its object to further increase brokers' commissions on British Government and Home Railway Stocks, and also to raise the usual minimum charge for any transaction from 10s. to £1. Business was quiet in the new County and Corporation issues. Dealings began in the Coventry, Middlesbrough, and South Shields Scrips on the basis of ½ discount for the first named and 1½ discount for the other two. It is rumoured that another town combination is coming along shortly with an issue for a substantial amount, the towns mentioned in connection therewith including Manchester, Leeds, and Nottingham.

LONDON STOCKS RESTRICTED.

There was a notable absence of robustness about the Stock Exchange. Business was on a restricted scale all round, partly owing to holiday influences and partly because of a disposition to await further developments regarding the Russian attitude towards Poland and this country, which at present is regarded as rather obscure. In the circumstances, the public was little in evidence either as investors or speculators, and professionals merely evened their books. Gilt-edged issues opened with a weak appearance, and, despite a partial recovery, the changes were narrowly adverse. Among Gilt-edge securities quotations partly recovered an opening fall, but the 5 per cent. War Loan at 84½ left off ⅛ down. There was little fresh support for new Corporation scrips, which were inclined to dwindle. Dealings commenced in the new four Town issues, and Middlesbro' scrip was only ½ discount. Colonial Loans lacked feature.

FOREIGN BONDS BETTER.—In the Foreign market, conditions were on the firm side. French loans were unchanged on the day. The Fours barely held at 40. Russian Bonds held nominal but firm. Egyptians hung fire. The Far Eastern group held firm. Japanese issues generally hard, and Chinese quotations occasionally added a point, the 1896 Loan being up to 72.

Changes:—Rises—Brazil Funding (1908) 1 to 69½, Chinese 5 p.c. (1896), 1 to 72; German Threes ⅛ to 8½; Japan New 5 p.c., 1 to 70; Peruvian Debs., 1 to 80.

HOME RAILS DEPRESSED.—Home Rails were thoroughly out of favour, but the down-

FINANCIAL NEWS

DUBLIN STOCK EXCHANGE.

LIGHT BUSINESS. NO FEATURE. HOLIDAY INFLUENCES.

There was a continuance of idle markets on 'Change yesterday, with moderate fluctuations and really no special feature. The Funds were lower on balance, but Dublin Corporation Stock after recent heavy decline showed a rallying tendency. Banks were idle, but a trifle harder in the case of Nationals. Guinness opened at a fresh decline of ¼, but later rallied. City steam and Marconi issues were altogether neglected. Home Railway Ord. were neglected, but on the whole Pre.-Ord. issues were rather disposed to harden on the proposals for the adjustment of revenue with latter day expenditure. Coats alone quoted in the Textile group and closed higher. Dunlops Rubber Ord. were firmer, but Shell Transport shares further eased. The interim dividends on Midland Great Western Railway and Johnston, Mooney, and O'Brien Bakery shares notified were unaltered.

In the Funds, Funding Loan rose ⅜ to 69⅝, and Irish Land 3 p.c. ¼ to 51¾, but War Loan 4½ p.c. fell ¼ to 77¼, ditto 5 p.c. ¼ to 84⅜. Victory Bonds ¼ to 77⅝, and Irish Land 2¾ p.c. ⅜ to 46⅞. Dublin Corporation 3½ p.c. was bid up 2 to 52 buyers.

In Banks, Nationals rallied 1/16 to 15 1/16 x.d. Munster and Leinsters were again called 6½.

In Breweries, etc., Guinness issues alone quoted. The Ord. opened ½ lower at 33⅞, but later 34 was paid. The Pref., at 9½, were steady.

Among Railway Pre.-Ord. Stocks, Dublin and South-Eastern Pref. rose ½ to 31, but Great Southern and Western Pref. fell 1 to 46. Midland Great Western issues, on the whole, closed firm on the maintenance of the interim dividend. Baronial Guaranteed Shares were sellers where mentioned at lower levels.

Trams were featureless.

Among Dunlops, Parent Def. was still called 57s. 6d. bid, while Dunlop Rubber Ord. hardened 1/16 to 7 11/16.

The only transaction in Manufacturing Shares was in Coats Ord. at 55s. 9d., a rise of 6d. on the previous day's closing quotation.

In Trading, etc., Burke Pref. realised 56s. x.d. Irish Civil Service fetched 18⅛ for a few Shares. Imperial Tobacco fell 6d. to 50s. 6d., and Shells ⅛ to 6⅞.

RECEDING STOCKS.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

Conditions in the Stock Market varied but little from those of the preceding day. The volume of business was reduced to a mere trifle, and, with very few exceptions, markets were dull, with quotations tending downward. Gilt-edged stocks were dull and lower in places, prices receding from sheer lack of support. The falls in War Stocks were small, but Consols displayed more infirmity, slipping back to 46⅛. A project is on foot having for its object to further increase brokers' commissions on British Government and Home Railway Stocks, and also to raise the usual minimum charge for any transaction from 10s. to £1. Business was quiet in the new County and Corporation issues. Dealings began in the Coventry, Middlesborough, and South Shields Scrips on the basis of ½ discount for the first named and 1¼ discount for the other two. It is rumoured that another town combination is coming along shortly with an issue for a substantial amount, the towns mentioned in connection therewith including Manchester, Leeds, and Nottingham.

LONDON STOCKS RESTRICTED.

There was a notable absence of robustness about the Stock Exchange. Business was on a restricted scale all round, partly owing to holiday influences and partly because of a disposition to await further developments regarding the Russian attitude towards Poland and this country, which at present is regarded as rather obscure. In the circumstances, the public was not in evidence either as investors or speculators, and professionals merely evened their books. Gilt-edged issues opened with a weak appearance, and, despite a partial recovery, net changes were narrowly adverse. Among Gilt-edged securities quotations partly recovered an opening fall, but the 5 per cent. War Loan at 84⅜ left off 1/16 down. There was little fresh support for new Corporation scrips, which were inclined to dwindle. Dealings commenced in the new four Town issues, and Middlesbro' scrip was only ½ discount. Colonial Loans lacked feature.

FOREIGN BONDS BETTER.—In the Foreign market, conditions were on the firm side. French Loans were unchanged on the day. The Fours barely held at 40. Russian Bonds held nominal, but firm. Egyptians hung fire. The Far Eastern group held firm. Japanese issues were generally hard, and Chinese quotations occasionally added a point, the 1896 Loan being up to 72.

Changes:—Rises—Brazil Funding (1908), 1 to 69½; Chinese 5 p.c. (1896), 1 to 72; German Threes ⅛ to 8¼; Japan New 5 p.c., 1 to 70; Peruvian Debs., 1 to 80.

HOME RAILS DEPRESSED.—Home Rails were thoroughly out of favour, but the downward tendency of quotations was checked to some extent. The limitation of the fare advance, however, and the increasing competition of road transport under existing conditions renders feeling in the market regarding the outlook very conservative. The Hull and Barnsley dividend was announced at the rate of 1½ p.c. actual for the half-year. The Stock was ½ lower at 49. Other Trunk and Trade Stocks registered occasional falls of ½. Brighton Def. did not move at 45 on the eve of the dividend announcement.

CANADIANS WEAK AND MEXICANS QUIET.—Canadian Pacifics relapsed to 155 at the opening on Wall street advices, and did not recover much. Grand Trunk Stocks were unaffected by the publication of a weekly traffic increase of £86,748, and closed unchanged. Mexican Rails were dull at about overnight levels, but there was some further light selling of Argentine Rails, which marked scattered falls of ½ to 1. Cuban Lines were firm.

Changes:—Falls—Canadian Pacific to 155; B.A. Great Southern, ⅛ to 75½; B.A. and Pacific, ½ to 61½; B.A. and Western, ½ to 76½; Central Argentine, ½ to 65.

INDUSTRIALS SHOW DECLINES IN ABSENCE OF BUSINESS.

LITTLE INTEREST TAKEN IN PREF. ISSUES.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

Conditions in the Miscellaneous and Industrial market yesterday indicated no change in the attitude of the public. There was scarcely any demand for Ordinary Shares, and it was considered satisfactory for prices to be even maintained at their previous level. In places, the quiet acquisition of selected Preference issues was noticeable. This class of investment business supplied practically all the limited number of orders on hand. As an example, Rylands 8 p.c. Pref. were maintained at a premium, and closed still in request. A further instance was provided by Cook, Son, and Co. 7 p.c. Participating Pref., which advanced again, leaving the Ordinary behind in price. As regards these shares, it will be recollected that after payment of 7 p.c. on both classes the Preference participate to the extent of 25 p.c. of the surplus profits. Debentures such as Imperial Paper Mills were also wanted. The relief afforded by the brighter political outlook might have been expected to out-weigh the influences of Goodwood and the forthcoming Bank Holiday. Maple and Company's interim dividend at the rate of 5 p.c. per annum is at the same rate as for the corresponding period of last year. "Bus A" came in for a little demand during the day. Rolls Royce, among Motors, showed a further hardening tendency.

Business was negligible in the Iron and Steel section, where prices drooped for want of any kind of support. Vickers declined to 24s. 6d., and Armstrongs shed 6d. to 27s. 3d. Cargo Fleet weakened to 21s. 6d. South Durhams Steel were marked down to 3 1/16. Swan, Hunters at 2⅞, Guest Keen at 46s., and Bolckow Vaughan at 24s. 9d., were unchanged. B.S.A. eased to 22s. 6d. Canadian Americans were steady, with Spanish River Pulp issues showing no further rises. Brazilian Tractions were still 48. In the Textile group, Amalgamated Cottons were firm, and the price kept very steady at about 1 7/16. Courtaulds fluctuated within narrow limits, finally closing unchanged. Bleachers were dull at 1⅞, or 1/16 easier. Spinners kept the price at 2⅞. Cottons and Calicos were maintained at 2 9/16 and 1½, respectively. Imperial Paper Mills Debs. were a steady market, a little investment buying being traceable in this class of stock. Rylands 8 p.c. Pref. were 1s. 6d. prem. bid. African and Eastern Corporation New B Pref. (fully paid) changed hands at 15s. The Ord. improved slightly to 3¼, and the new Ord. to 20s. 6d. (10s. paid). Dunlops closed slightly lower at 7⅞. Cements, at 28s., were unchanged. British Aluminium hardened to 21s. Pyrotan Leather were a little better at 7s. Eastmans Meat Shares kept the price at 18s. 6d., though British and Argentine Meat were a shade off at 22s. 3d. Alby United Carbide were further depressed at 7s. on the dissension in the company. Among Motors, Rolls Royce were again harder at 4¾. Leyland were easier for choice at 16s. Caterers and Foodstuffs were irregular, with A.B.C. easier at 1⅞. Lyons were brighter at 4⅞, and Maypoles were the turn worse off at 13s. 1½d. The decline in the Nitrate group was accentuated, prices being marked back with fair consistency throughout. Marconi Pref. were harder at 2⅛ in an otherwise stationary Wireless group. Shipping securities were despondent, but no new changes were recorded. Among Insurances, London and Lancs eased ⅛ to 11⅞. In the Brewery section Allsopp Pref. hardened further to 64½ x.d. City of London Ord. were maintained at 175. Banks were dull.

OIL SHARE MARKET FEATURELESS.

FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.

Business in the Oil Share market was on a restricted scale, but the market was not entirely devoid of feature. Mexican Eagle, for instance, fluctuated a good deal, and finished at the best of the day, while Shells were a most disappointing market, and moved downwards. Russian shares received a little attention owing to the improved political situation, and shares of companies operating in this country met with more attention, if, as yet, the inquiries made did not lead to any material increase in business. In this connection the statements made by Lord Cowdray at a luncheon given by the Petroleum Companies to Mr. F. G. Kellaway, M.P., were a stimulating influence. Lord Cowdray prophesied that England will soon be in the front rank of the oil industry. Referring to the oil exploration in this country, he said that his firm belief was that commercial oil existed here. In fact, the result of the drilling at Hardstoft, Derbyshire, proved in itself that the belief, so far as England was concerned, was justified. This well was as productive as the average wells in the United States. On this the shares of the oilfields of England, which has an area of, approximately, eight square miles near Newark, Notts, were in demand round 11s. 6d. for the 15s. paid share. Despite reports of political unrest in certain parts of Mexico, Mexican Eagle shares were a fairly brisk market. The shares opened with a show of considerable strength, and the quotation advanced to the neighbourhood of 10¼. From this level there was a reaction to nearly 10 1/16, but in the late dealings fresh support resulted in a recovery to 10⅜, at which the market closed, showing a gain of 11/32 on the day. Shells, however, were pressed for sale, and receded sharply, and the rights to the new issue gave way in sympathy. The other leading issues did not move much. Closing prices:—

MINING SHARES DULL.

BUSINESS ALMOST AT A STANDSTILL, AND PRICE MOVEMENTS INSIGNIFICANT.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

Yesterday an air of lassitude pervaded all markets, both public and professional, interest being at a very low ebb. Tuesday is usually a dull day in the "House," but one has got to go a very long way to find a parallel for yesterday. Indeed, in the Mining department there was hardly sufficient business passing to test quotations, and in the Kaffir section, apart from a few of the usually active counters, prices hardly moved all day. The maintenance of the price of gold at £5 8s. 9d. per oz., the knowledge that the exchange rates for drafts has gone back to something approaching normal, and the fact that nearly all the good class shares are still full of dividend possibilities imparted a certain amount of strength to the undertone; but as neither the Cape, Paris, nor the home public seemed inclined to lend support, few actual changes could be recorded. The market derived a certain negative satisfaction from the fact that real holders were not anxious to sell; but from the dealers' point of view this afforded no compensation for the almost entire absence of trade. There were no outstanding features, unless a further rise in Sub-Nigel may be so regarded, but even in this case no confirmation of the rumours of good developments came to hand during business hours. In view of general conditions, Rhodesians made quite a good showing. It is true Chartereds were unable to maintain the improvement scored on the preceding day, and Shamva were dullish, but Gaiks, Falcon, and one or two others responded readily to a modest inquiry. The steam went out of Fanti Consolidated in the West African Gold list, but Prestea came to the front. Australians were neglected, and Broken Hill Props. eased, despite the declaration of the usual 9d. dividend. Hampton Consolidated (late Gwalia Central) were a harder market. Coppers were very quiet, and inclined to dulness, but in the Russian department Russo-Asiatic received a certain amount of support, and moved up. Miscellaneous descriptions claimed but little attention, as may be gathered from the nature of the movements.

RUBBER SHARES DULL.

(FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

In sympathy with the lower prices ruling for the commodity, which fell to 1s. 10d. per lb., the Rubber share market was dull and the tendency easier. Business was again on a small scale. Anglo-Dutch, after being better, finished a shade easier at 49s. 4½d., and Rubber Trust fell to 33s. 9d. Straits Rubber was no better then 36s. 3d., and Tali Ayer at 31s. 3d. was 1/16 lower. Kepitigalla were active, with a rise of 3d. to 14s. Straits Bertam were harder on the report, finishing at 8s. 4½d., but United Serdang lost the turn at 6s. 1½d. Jasin, Malacca, and Peacock were a little easier. Lankat Rubber changed hands around 52s. 6d., and Sembilans offered about 2⅞. Jurus were done at 28s. 6d. and Moribs up to 28s. 1½d.

SEVERE PRESSURE FOR LOANS.

Bank Rate (changed April 15th) .... 7 p.c.

There was no appreciable slackening of conditions in the Money market yesterday. There was no surplus in the afternoon. Weekly fixtures were firm at 5½ p.c. The appearance of the discount market was hard, and takers were reserved in view of the tightening of loan conditions. There was only a moderate volume of paper available, however. Two months' drafts were posted at 5¾ p.c., three months' at 6¼, and six months' at 6¾ p.c. There was some demand for August bills at 5½ to 5¾ p.c.

FINANCIAL PARAGRAPHS.

Eastmans, Ltd., beg to announce that negotiations are in progress for the purchase of the Ordinary and Preference Shares of the company, and, should the negotiations mature, the proposal will be forthwith submitted to the shareholders.

Prices in the Home Railway market have fallen lower than ever, and the latest official reference to the industry's position (Sir Frederick Banbury's speech at the Great Northern meeting last week) seems to have upset what faith remained in stockholders that there might be an improvement in conditions before long. Coming on top of the various factors which have been operating lately against the market, the speech has simply served to underline the dissatisfaction felt with the situation. The heavy stocks, the lower priced issues, and the undergrounds have all given way. The suggested increase of fares and the outcry which it has aroused have directed such renewed attention to motor traction as to make it certain enough that as soon as the railway charges are put into force there will be an immediate and rapid expansion of enterprise in the motor world, to such extent probably as will make its effect felt severely upon railway receipts. It is the absence of anything to cling to which causes home railway stockholders to lose heart; and in spite of the excellent yields which are being offered by the leading stocks at their present low prices, there are very few people who are bold enough to invest their money in this section.

On inquiry yesterday at the offices of the Tin Areas of Nigeria, we were informed by the secretary that it is expected that the meeting of shareholders will be held next week, and that the accounts for the year ended May 31, 1919, will be presented. Shareholders will then be in possession of fuller information as to the company's finances. These accounts will, however, have nothing to show as to what has happened during the past fourteen months, and should be supplemented by later information. The statements made in the recent brief circular have merely whetted the appetite of the shareholders for further details.

Yesterday the new Imperial Paper Mills 7½ per cent. 1st Deb. Stock was dealt in for the first time, and the quotation, following fairly brisk dealings, rose to 1½ premium. Rylands 8 per cent. Pref. were also introduced, and advanced to 1/6 premium. The Armstrong and Whitworth 6½ per cent. 2nd Deb. Stock came in for some attention round 92 for the fully-paid stock, while many bargains were recorded in the partly-paid stock round 22, or a discount of 3 per cent.

Some misapprehension having arisen as to the reconstruction of Marshall's, Ltd., it is officially explained that the scheme, which involves the formal voluntary liquidation of the company, was undertaken solely for the purpose of increasing the company's capital, to bring the amount more into proportion with the assets and earning power, which have grown with the success of the undertaking. The scheme has been unanimously passed and confirmed, and the additional cash capital has been provided.

Important forthcoming changes in the management of the Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Co., Ltd., are announced. Mr. J. C. Rimmer, Sub-Manager, retires as on the 30th September next, after nearly 48 years' service with the company. As from the 1st October Mr. Hugh Lewis, the present London Manager, will become Deputy General Manager of the company. Mr. F. Reddrop, the present Assistant London Manager, will become Sub-Manager of the company; and Mr. W. R. Macready, Assistant Secretary at the head office, will become the London Manager. Mr. A. G. Dent, Secretary and General Manager of the company, will retire on the 31st December next, and be succeeded in his post by Mr. Hugh Lewis. Mr. Dent's earlier career was with the Northern and the Sun offices. He became Assistant Secretary of the Liverpool and London and Globe in 1901, Sub-Manager in 1904, and Secretary and General Manager on the 1st January, 1907.

The Bwana M'Kubwa Copper Mining Co., Ltd., reports that negotiations to finance the company are delayed pending completion of negotiations relating to railway rates in Rhodesia.

In the Chancery Division, London, yesterday, the debenture-holders' action brought by the Consolidated Goldfields of South Africa, Ltd., against Simmer Deep, Ltd., came before Mr. Justice Peterson on a motion for judgment in default of defence. Mr. Stroud, for the plaintiff company, reminded his lordship that a receiver of the respondent company was appointed a few weeks ago. The plaintiffs held a large number of prior-lien and first charge debentures, and it was anticipated that enough would be recovered under the judgment to satisfy both. His lordship asked if both sets of debentures had matured. Mr. Stroud—It is alleged that the defendant company has closed down, and that this is a breach of the undertaking to carry on the business. His lordship gave the usual judgment in a debenture-holders' action.

AN INTERNATIONAL ARMY.

General Sir Hubert Gough, K.C.B., the famous Irish soldier, discusses the possibilities of "An International Army" in a special article which is published to-day in the Weekly Irish Times.

The text was issued yesterday of the Telegraph (Money) Bill, which provides for the provision of a sum not to exceed £10,000,000 for the purpose of developing the telephonic system.

COMPANY MEETING.

ANGLO-JAVA RUBBER AND PRODUCE CO., LTD.

The tenth ordinary general meeting of shareholders in this company was held yesterday at Winchester House, Old Broad street, London, E.C. Mr. R. F. McNair Scott (Chairman of the Company) presided.

The Secretary (Mr. A. H. Doherty) read the notice convening the meeting.

The Chairman, in moving the adoption of the report and accounts, said that for the first time there appeared in the balance sheet a share premium account, amounting to £63,432, the result of the new shares issued at a premium. As foreshadowed at the last meeting, the estate in Sumatra had been sold, and the item "Sumatra Property" appeared for the last time in that form. In future it would be represented in the accounts by the 33,766 shares of £1 each, fully-paid, in the United Rubber and Coffee Plantations, Ltd., which company the directors believed had a very good future before it. The rubber sales for the year gave an average price over all grades of 1/10 per lb. f.o.b., or approximately 2/0¼ per lb. landed terms. The f.o.b. cost of production, which included managers' bonuses and £7,176 allowance for depreciation, was 11.34d. per lb., and, as compared with the previous year, was lower by nearly 3d. per lb. (Hear, hear.) The result was regarded as satisfactory, and if they could show such a substantial and favourable margin between realisations and estate expenditure in a year of admittedly low average prices, it would not be unreasonable to predict for this company a very hopeful future when further areas come into tapping, and the expected improvement in market conditions generally set in. In referring to the estates, the Chairman said that Mr. Bosanquet, a planter and visiting agent, in a letter published in the report said:—"You have some of the finest properties in the East." The estimated output for the current year was 2,353,000 lbs., and for the first half of the year 1,277,300 lbs. had been harvested. He would emphasise that above their pre-war standard the Government took over 73 per cent. of the profits, quite apart from the proposed Corporation Tax. The net profit for the year, after allowing for depreciation, was £95,189, and, with the carry forward, amounted to £134,358. After the usual payments, there was left to be carried forward a sum of £58,332. To that, however, must be added the amount to be recovered from the Inland Revenue Department as the repayment of income tax under the Stevens v. Boustead decision. That amount had been officially agreed with the company's auditors at £11,177 15/-, and the profit and loss account for the current year would benefit accordingly. This company, with its 10,000 odd acres under the cultivation of rubber, could be regarded as a representative unit of the rubber-growing world. As regarded production, authorities estimated in the early future a considerably diminished rate of increase as compared with that which occurred when the extensive plantings of the years 1909-13 reached the tapping stage. Modest as were those estimates, it was by no means certain they would be realised, owing to shortage of labour throughout the East, the adoption of more prudent methods of tapping, and the depressing effects of excessive taxation. As to the consumption of rubber, America was the most important factor. After buying very largely during the early part of the year, that country had remained out of the market for some time, with the result that prices had fallen away, but before long America was bound to come into the market again. Referring to the unfair taxation in England, what they complained of was that the accident of birth should so heavily penalise some companies by way of taxation, whilst many of the older units contributed nothing in the form of excess profits duty. That tax fell with special severity on the small investor, of whom this company had many thousands. The Board had just been able to secure a valuable estate, which had the great advantage of being quite close to two of the old sections, and had an area of about 1,800 acres. The land was reported to be well suited for rubber, and it was hoped to bring about 700 to 800 acres under cultivation of Hevea rubber during the next twelve months or so, and the balance would be planted up as deemed expedient. The directors considered this new purchase a valuable asset, and it increased their total area to over 14,000 acres.

The Right Hon. Sir J. West Ridgeway, G.C.B., seconded the motion, which was agreed to unanimously, and the dividend, as recommended, was approved.

A resolution was also passed increasing the directors' remuneration, other than the Chairman, from £200 to £300 per annum, and the Chairman to £500 per annum.

The proceedings then terminated.

PENDING ISSUE.

WILKINSON'S (PRODUCE TO CONSUMER), LTD.

This company has been formed with a capital of £50,000, divided into 30,000 10 per cent. Participating Preference Shares of £1 each, and 20,000 Ordinary Shares of £1 each, and will shortly make an issue of 20,000 Preference Shares and 4,000 Ordinary Shares. The company will acquire the established business of Wilkinson Brothers, of Wilton place, Knightsbridge, London, the well-known distributors of eggs, and to carry on business as dealers and merchants in tested and guaranteed eggs and farm produce. The business was established some twenty years ago, and is recognised as the foremost house in connection with the collection and distribution of eggs, which trade they have made their speciality. The sales for the years 1917 to 1919 are certified as follows:—1917, £199,249; 1918, £336,664, and 1919, £193,607. The 1918 sales included large quantities of eggs to the National Egg Collection. The increase of trade has rapidly outgrown the financial resources of the proprietors, who consequently are at present unable to enjoy to the full the advantages of cash payments, which the present issue will provide. The Board is a practical one, and includes the founder of the business and the two other partners.

AMMUNITION IN A SOAP BOX.

COURTMARTIAL ON CANTEEN ASSISTANT.

At Marlborough Barracks, Dublin, yesterday, a courtmartial was held on David Bohan, civilian, employed as a grocery bar charge hand at the Curragh Camp, on a charge of having, contrary to the Order of the Competent Military Authority, ammunition not under effective military control, viz., 160 rounds of Service rifle ammunition. Major R. H. Montgomery, M.C., was president of the Court. Captain H. J. Jones prosecuted, and Mr. James Cawley (instructed by Mr. James Brady) represented the accused, who pleaded not guilty.

Arthur Wm. Challis, Canteen Major, stated that he went into the grocery bar in which the accused was taking stock, and in a cupboard underneath some books he found a paper parcel in a soap box containing ammunition. When questioned accused said that it was his, but subsequently stated that it must belong to men who were doing his work while he was in hospital. Witness said that there would have to be an investigation, and he handed the parcel to the Regimental Sergeant-Major. Accused was employed in the place since July of last year, and was absent for some time in hospital. He resumed duty on March 20th, and stock was taken on March 23rd, together with once every month afterwards. Witness was certain that the parcel was not there on May 3rd, when he searched the cupboard. There was only one other man employed in the bar. Accused had no access to the ammunition store. Witness knew him for three or four years, and he always found him decent and honest. Others had access to the place where the ammunition was found, but not without the knowledge of witness and accused.

Captain Beecher, Adjutant, 1st Cameronians, and Constable McInerney also gave evidence.

James Dempsey, who was employed in the grocery bar with accused, gave evidence for the defence, and said that as far as he knew accused had no dealings, for the three months he was with him, in either arms or ammunition. Witness never saw the parcel of ammunition before.

Mr. Cawley referred to the excellent character given to the accused by the various witnesses, and contended that there was no direct or conclusive evidence to connect the accused with the ammunition. Accused had no political connections.

Captain Jones having replied the Court found the accused not guilty, and he was discharged.

GRAIN.—DUBLIN CORN EXCHANGE, Tuesday.—There is little change in the general position of our Corn Market. Attendance continues very thin. Business comparatively small, and practically confined to oats. Black oats remain firmly held around recent improvement, but there is still a very slack run on whites, and prices are none too well supported. No blacks of good bulking quality can be purchased under 32/- per barrel, and in what might be termed retail transactions prices may be reckoned 1/- to 1/6 per barrel more. White oats rate, say, from 36/- to 38/- per barrel, and occasionally very fancy lots up to 39/-.

I. BUY OATS.—A. H. Smith, 10 Burgh quay, Dublin.—(Advt.)

FLOATING GRAIN CARGOES.—BALTIC, Tuesday.—WHEAT—Allocations comprised cargo of Plate, per Elbing, 3,200 tons, afloat, to Cork, at 94/- per 480lbs. MAIZE easier; cargoes steamer loading sellers 69/6, afloat 68/-, August-September 68/6, September-October 67/6; parcels of ditto July-August sellers 65/6, August-September 64/-, September-October 63/6 per 480lbs. LIVERPOOL, Tuesday.—C.i.f. parcels of wheat were not offered. Maize—Parcels of River Plate gave way about 1/9 per qr., but finished at a recovery from the worst point. Afloat old crop sold at 66/-, new crop 67/-, August-September 63/6, and September-October 62/9 to 62/6 per qr. WHEAT on the spot was steady but quiet at late rates. MAIZE—Spot parcels River Plate continued firm at 14/10 to 15/- per cental. FLOUR met a moderate demand on the Government terms. BEANS and BARLEY met an improved demand at slightly higher prices. PEAS, OATS, and OATMEAL were in only moderate demand at about late prices. MILL OFFALS quietly steady and unaltered. LINSEED and COTTONSEED CAKES attracted more attention. Yellow River Plate maize futures, in sympathy with lower c.i.f. rates, gave way, the market closing quiet at 2½d. to 3½d. per cental under last night's rates. Sales—Ten loads at 13/11½ per cental for October delivery. Closing values—September 14/3½, October 13/11½ per cental.

NEWCASTLE, Tuesday.—Thin market, with prices unchanged. Quotations:—English wheat, 98/6; foreign, 105/-; maize, 74/-; Scotch oats, 74/- to 75/-; foreign, 59/- to 62/-; malting barley, 105/-; grinding barley, 95/-; beans, 110/- per quarter; flour, 63/6 per sack.

PROVISIONS.—DUBLIN POTATO, Tuesday.—Large supplies of potatoes came in this morning, but much less excessive than upon a couple of occasions last week. Values were reduced 2/- per cwt., and a fair clearance was effected at current terms, viz., 8/- to 9/- and 10/- per cwt.

LIVERPOOL, Tuesday.—There is little change in the situation for BACON here, importers still offering American selections freely, and, with the continued scarcity of Irish and Danish cures, a moderate business is generally reported. The demand is mainly for fresh Wiltshires, though bellies and Cumberlands are also in request, and some of the poorer conditioned parcels of bellies and Cumberlands also attracting attention for shipment to Ireland. Consequent on the absence of backs, Canadian Wiltshires inquired for, but few are available at present. Danish in small compass, with a good demand, and the limited quantity of Irish continues to be keenly competed for at round about 275/- per cwt. ex factory, Ireland. HAMS scarce and in good request, though some bacon has still to be taken to secure the hams. Shoulders generally quiet, though there is an inquiry for fresh squares owing to the ham shortage. LARD on the spot again freely offered, with a moderate business reported, chiefly in American refined. CHEESE goes fairly into consumption for controlled at Government rates. Cheshire is in good demand at fully 1/7 to 1/8 per lb. Free Canadian coloured attracts some attention at 160/- to 162/-, but white quiet at 158/- to 160/- per cwt. BUTTER scarce and supply much less than needed, and prices of free Irish continue against buyers. EGGS firm and scarce; prices from 37/6 to 40/- per 120.

HALSTON STREET POULTRY, Tuesday.—Market here continues of somewhat erratic character, but values generally are gradually coming down nearer a popular level again. Chickens fairly plentiful, but prime fat ducks scarce. Hens coming forward in variable order. Rabbits in keen request at hardening rates. Pullets, 6/- to 7/- each; prime heavy chickens, 4/- to 5/- each; medium, 3/6; others, 2/6 to 3/-; prime fat hens, 4/6; others, 2/- to 3/6; prime heavy fat ducks, 4/6 to 5/-; extra, 6/-; medium-sized fat, 3/6 to 4/-; old ducks, 1/- to 2/6 and 3/- each; prime fresh trapped rabbits, 1/8 to 1/9; seconds, 1/7 each.

DUBLIN FRUIT AND VEGETABLE, Tuesday.—Supplies fairly large of home-grown stuff, but imported goods in very moderate compass. Steady all round trade; values on easier side of recent currencies, but relatively dear all the same. In vegetables, cauliflowers and cabbage especially are selling dearly. Peaches, 8/- to 12/- per dozen, and special, up to 1/6 and 1/10 each; strawberries, 8d. to 1/- and 1/2 per lb.; Hamboro' grapes, 3/6 to 4/6 per lb.; cherries, 20/- to 22/- per half bushel, and 12/- to 13/- per strike; gooseberries, 6/- to 9/- and 12/- per float and half bushel; black currants, 9d. to 10d. per lb., 12/6 to 15/- per tray; red, 6d. to 8d. per lb., 6d. to 8d. per tray; plums, 20/- to 25/- and 30/- per half bushel; raspberries, 1/- per lb.; tomatoes, English, 13/6 per strike; Irish, 14/-; poor quality, 9/-; in odd lots best Irish, 1/- to 1/4 per lb.; cucumbers, 3/- to 6/- per dozen; vegetable marrows, 3/- to 10/- and 12/- per dozen; mushrooms, 1/- to 1/4 per pannet, etc.; peas, 2/6 to 4/- per float and 30/- to 35/- per bag; scallions, 6d. to 1/2 per bundle; Tripoli onions, 1/2 to 1/9; Dutch onions, 12/6 per bag; Spanish, 20/- and 23/- per fours and fives cases; Egyptian onions, 12/- and 14/- per bag; rhubarb, 2/3 to 4/- per dozen; cauliflowers, 3/- to 4/6 and 5/6 per dozen; in the run specially selected more; parsley, 6d. to 1/- per tray; carrots, 2/3 to 2/6 per dozen bundles; lettuce, 4d. to 1/- and 1/3 dozen; broad beans, 1/- to 1/6 per float; kidney beans, 9d. to 1/- per tray; white turnips, 6d. to 1/2 per bundle; York cabbage, 25/- to 40/-, 75/-, and 80/- per load; spinach, 2/- per float; celery, 6d. to 9d. per bunch; thyme, 2d. to 4d. and 6d. per bunch.

Hawkers' stuff and herrings cheap.

BILLINGSGATE FISH, Tuesday.—Supply liberal; steady demand. Salmon, 51d. to 56d.; grilse, 39d. to 45d.; salmon trout, 24d. to 32d.; soles, 17d. to 19d. per lb.; live eels, 30/-; dead, 20/- per draft; turbot, 10/- to 12/-; plaice, 9/- to 11/-; halibut, 10/- to 12/-; lemon soles, 11/-; cod, 5/- to 7/-; hake, 7/- to 8/-; haddock, 4/- to 6/-; skate, 5/- to 6/-; brill 10/- to 11/- per stone.

GRIMSBY FISH, Tuesday.—Poor supply from 41 North Sea trawlers and one codman; demand strong. English cod, 10/6; plaice, 12/-; dabs, 10/6; halibuts, 15/-; lemon soles, 17/-; hake, 11/-; gibbed haddocks, 7/-; kit, 6/-; small, 4/- to 5/-; mackerel, 4/6; whitings, 4/- per stone; soles, 2/-; turbots, 1/2; brills, 1/- per lb.

LONDON BORO' AND SPITALFIELDS POTATO, Tuesday.—Smaller arrivals met a quiet trade, and prices easy. Many samples of Lincolns and Blacklands show signs of blight. Quotations:—Kent, also Essex, 9/- to 10/-; Lincolns, 8/- to 10/-; Blacklands, 8/- to 9/6 per cwt.

MANCHESTER, Tuesday. — BUTTER — Irish creameries are still scarce, and are now quoted around 360/- per cwt. Owing to the holidays there will be a distribution of Government butter on Friday next. BACON—More American arriving; Danish and Canadian scarce; Irish rolls 316/- to 320/- f.o.b. LARD—Fair inquiry at steady prices. CHEESE—Finest Lancashire and Cheshire 1/8, 1/2, Canadian 158/- to 162/-. EGGS scarce; Irish hen 37/6 to 40/-, Danish 38/- to 40/-, Canadian 35/-.

BUTTER AND EGGS.—LITTLE GREEN, Tuesday.—The butter position has become difficult, as was anticipated in our last week-end remarks, and, with the grabbing disposition of shippers to get stuff across the water at inflated prices, local trade here is being neglected; what creamery produce that is coming to hand does not cover requirements. Prices for choice creams around 3/1 per lb., and in some hands, 3/1½. At these figures some wholesalers are working at a loss owing to the exacting attitude of manufacturers. A few remaining factory parcels were cashed around 2/9 to 2/10 per lb.; farmers' tubs and firkins ran from 2/5 to 2/8, and fine cools up to 2/9 and 2/10 per lb.; separators, 2/10 to 2/11 per lb. Supplies of eggs, too, have become on the small side owing to the keen shipping offtake, and prices have further hardened. Complaints are still general of the mixed and disreputable character of the bulk of eggs coming in. Prime eggs from known senders realise from 36/- to 38/- per 120; selected and repacked lots, 39/- to 40/- per 120; ordinary case arrivals may be reckoned anywhere from 30/- to 36/-.

HAY AND STRAW.—SMITHFIELD, Tuesday.—Market of hay filled in tolerably full this morning, and gave a fair proportion of last season's crop. With finer weather and generally drier condition of stuff business opened on an improved and firmer basis, but on bulk of requirements being satisfied matters took a slow and tedious turn, making the wind-up disappointing and depressed. Over the day choice old strong hay averaged 10/9 to 11/9, 12/-, and 12/6 per cwt.; old meadow sorts, 7/6 to 8/6 and 9/-; prime strong new hay, 7/- to 7/6, and extra nice quality, shed-loaded, Co. Dublin, occasionally 8/- and 8/6 per cwt.; soft, damp, and badly saved hay, 4/9 to 5/6 and 6/6 per cwt. Straw market continues very barely supplied; best wheaten and oaten averaged 7/- to 7/6, and extra nice loads of wheaten around 8/-; poor class oaten, 6/- to 6/6 per cwt.

TRADE REPORT—MANCHESTER, Tuesday.—Cloth sellers find moderate encouragement in demand from various outlets, which would, no doubt, be even more pronounced but for the disturbing influence of declining futures. An extensive and varied India inquiry is spoiled by the poorness of the limits attached. Of other outside markets South American is most appreciatively mentioned. Yarns keep fairly steady, but the turnover is nowhere on an extensive scale.

LONDON METALS MARKET.

TIN occupied quiet support, while easier on selling desire, cash being £3 to £3 5/- and forward £4 to £4 15/- lower since Monday's close. Cash quoted £267 to £267 10/-, three months £271 to £271 10/-, settlement price £267. Sales 100 tons; cash £267 to £266 and £267, middle September £270, early October £271 10/-. COPPER displayed a steady tone, values being scarcely changed. Standard cash quoted £92 to £92 5/-, three months £94 5/- to £94 7/6, settlement price £92. 700 tons sold; cash £92 5/- to £92 and £92 2/6, end August £93, three months £94 10/- to £94 5/- and £94 10/-, electros £108 to £114, B.S. £105 to £107, strong sheets £164. LEAD lower; 300 tons sold August £35 15/-, October £37. SPELTER easier; 150 tons sold, comprising August at £42 to £42 5/-, and September £42 15/- per ton.

HIGHLY IMPORTANT AUCTION OF EXTENSIVE BUSINESS PREMISES,

Consisting of WHOLESALE AND RETAIL 7 DAYS' LICENSED AND GROCERY ESTABLISHMENT, with Lock-up Yards, Stores, Stabling, and Land attached.

N. MAHER and SONS are instructed by JOHN CONNOLLY, Esq. (who is retiring from business), to

SELL BY PUBLIC AUCTION

AT BALLAGH,

ON WEDNESDAY 4TH AUGUST, 1920,

HIS INTEREST IN HIS VERY EXTENSIVE AND LUCRATIVE BUSINESS ESTABLISHMENT, IN TWO LOTS, as follows:—

LOT 1—That Old-established Licensed House and General Business Premises, with 8 acres, statute measure, or thereabouts, of primest land attached; all held at the very low rent of £20 per annum. This lot becomes freehold property by an office let to the Munster and Leinster Bank at £20 annually.

LOT 2—Attractive Roadside Holding, containing 3a. 1r. 5p., statute measure, or thereabouts, of luxuriant Pasture Land, at present under a corn crop, and held for ever as an absolute freehold.

DESCRIPTIVE PARTICULARS.

Lot 1, consisting of a very attractive Two-storeyed Slated Residence, which has hall door entrance, hall, sittingroom, 5 good bedrooms, kitchen and pantry, with ornamental brick porch, giving direct entrance to spacious shop and private office, from which there is a telephone communication to stores. The offices and stores in the lock-up yards are all, or mostly, of recent structure, and afford accommodation for implements, machinery, corn, coal, iron, provision manure, bottling, etc.; stabling for 6 horses (including 2 box stalls), coach-house, cow house, piggery, cattle shed and feeding house, combined, all lofted and have concrete floors. At the rear of the offices there is a well-enclosed hay yard and vegetable garden. The corn stores, which have a capacity of 5,000 barrels, are fitted with horse gear, shafting, pulleys, belting, and elevator, all in up-to-date order and condition. The land attached to this lot is all in ancient pasture of a deep, rich, fertile soil, widely known for its prime feeding properties; it is suitably divided, adjoining the county road, off which there is an iron gate entrance to each lot, ample shelter, and a never-failing water supply.

The lands comprising Lot 2 are bounded by the county road, off which there is an iron gate entrance; they are favourably known for their tillage results, while equally well adapted for dairying and feeding purposes.

The Auctioneers respectfully beg to point out to intending purchasers the opportunity now open to them to acquire a lucrative business property, which, by a temporary sub-letting, is held as a freehold.

The present Vendor, who is district agent for Pierce's, Howard's, Hornsby's, Ransom's, Sellar's, Walter A. Woods', Harrison and McGregor's, and International Harvester Companies, has enjoyed a flourishing trade in the different departments of this magnificent business establishment, and has expended thousands of pounds on improvements; therefore, the purchaser for years will not have a shilling outlay on repairs. Intended investors will be favoured with an examination of the enormous business turn-over of a property, which is situate in the best business centre of the country, within one mile of Gooldscross Railway Station, another important consideration.

A deposit of one-fourth the purchase money, with 5 per cent. commission, will be required on purchaser being declared.

IMPORTANT SUBURBAN FULLY-LICENSED PREMISES, WITH SPLENDID TRADING RECORD, IN FIRST-CLASS STRUCTURAL AND DECORATIVE REPAIR, KNOWN AS

WM. RYAN'S, LUCAN, CO. DUBLIN.

LONG LEASE. HEAD RENT, £50. Portion of the Premises is sub-let, and produces £24 annually. By directions of Mr. WILLIAM RYAN, who has purchased the well-known Licensed Concerns of Mr. Michael Hayden, Parkgate street, Dublin.

This imposing structure is situate on the Main road in the centre of this popular resort, and combines a well-planned and handsomely-fitted business establishment with a most comfortable residence. The business portion comprises a spacious shop, with modern fittings, all newly decorated and in thorough repair; good-sized bar parlour and summerhouse, with private entrance; artistically laid out and attractive pleasure grounds, which are extensively patronised, and in which refreshments are served, in most pleasant surroundings, during the summer months. There is a lofty and dry cellarage, ale store, etc.; car house, loose box, small hayshed, and lavatory accommodation in yard, adjoining the pleasure grounds, which has gate entrance.

The Residence, with hall-door entrance, contains diningroom, 4 bedrooms, kitchen with close range, scullery, etc. There is electric light throughout the premises.

Two adjoining Premises are sub-let to yearly tenants. The Tramway Co. hold one portion under Lease, subject to £14 a year, and use same as a parcels office and waitingroom, in which there is a Telephone Call Office. The other Premises are sub-let to a yearly tenant at £10 per annum. The total outgoings for rent, licence duty, and taxes (including the rents receivable) amount to less than 15/- per week.

This fine Business Concern is in perfect order throughout, the Vendor having judiciously expended a considerable sum on permanent and decorative improvements. It is seldom that a suburban premises, replete with so many advantages—requiring no outlay whatever—is offered to public competition.

Lucan, as a holiday resort, is ever increasing in popularity; the convenient and regular electric tram service from Dublin is largely availed of by visitors; from this source, in addition to many others, a very extensive patronage is accorded to this establishment. The Premises may be viewed any day after 3 p.m. on production of Card from Auctioneer, who can also give details of trading etc.

IN YOUR OWN INTEREST

You should seek to keep fit and well as a fairly permanent condition on which you can rely. Good Health means efficiency: it means that you have a chance to do your best. Simple justice to yourself and consideration for those who depend upon you or are interested in you demands that every reasonable care to maintain all your energies. It is to be feared that the General Health of a good many otherwise sensible people receive but indifferent care. The strenuous nature of modern life imposes heavy demands upon the bodily system; the digestive organisation is frequently the first part to feel the strain. Symptoms such as biliousness, constipation, headache, dizziness, heartburn, flatulence and poor appetite, point to dyspeptic troubles that may have serious consequences. These ailments should not be trifled with; they should receive prompt and proper treatment. A medicine which will act with efficacy, which is certainly one highly proved for digestive disorders and which is everywhere ready to hand, is

YOU SHOULD TAKE
